Rhode Island College of Education

PURPOSE

Rhode Island College of Education is maintained for the purpose of providing efficient teachers for the schools of the State.

The Need for Trained Teachers

For many years this State has been training teachers in large numbers, and has been getting others from other states. It has learned the value of having efficient teachers in all its schools, and the folly of wasting the time and the birthright of the children through unskilled teaching. Now the country as a whole has been aroused to the fact that less than half of all the children are under the instruction of adequately trained teachers. The sudden demand from every section has meant increased salaries in every state, inability to draw from other states, and an increased loss of excellent teachers from Rhode Island to all parts of the country. It will be many years before the need is adequately met.

To a well-trained teacher the field is open. Opportunity is offered for a life of greatest usefulness and for recognition in any part of the country as a professional educator.

The Practical Nature of an Education for Teaching

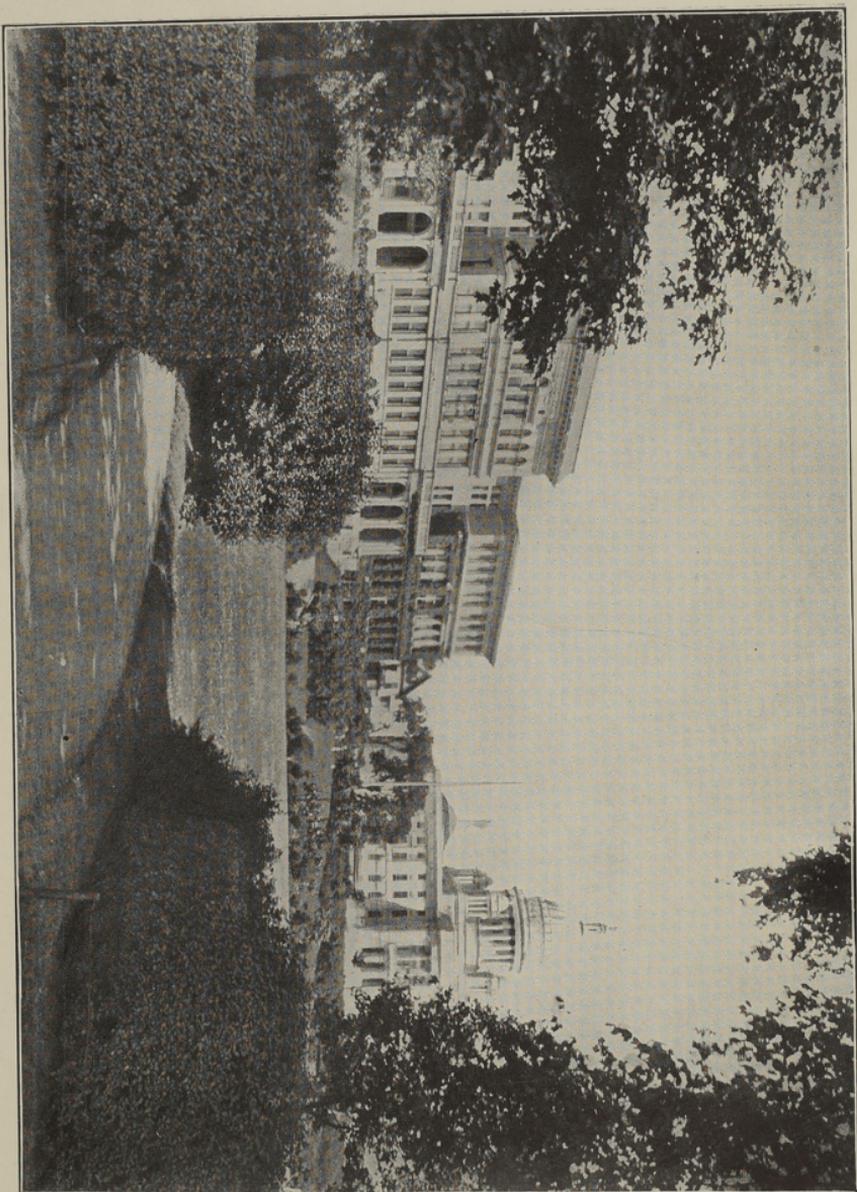

An education designed for the training of teachers must prove to be a practical preparation for leadership in any field of usefulness.

1. It is based on a thorough mastery of that knowledge which is known as the "fundamentals." Students in their haste to enter new fields of learning too often neglect such a mastery, although by it, throughout their lives, their education will be judged.

2. It begins with an analysis of the process of learning. The student becomes proficient in the art of learning through his study of the art of teaching. He thus becomes better fitted for rapid advancement in his later studies.

3. It is more than a study about something. It carries with it at all times the practical application of the study. Students must learn to do and to be, as well as to think and to know.

4. Its subject matter has to do with the ideas and ideals of everyday life.

RHODE ISLAND COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

5. It develops initiative, resourcefulness, and leadership.
6. It gives an art that is essential in all professions. Whatever one wishes to accomplish with or through others, he is successful in securing the desired results in proportion as he knows how to teach.
7. It carries with it an assurance of success, not merely in the realm of study, but in making one's way in the world.
8. It gives a preparation for most significant usefulness in training the rising generation for citizenship, a profession that challenges the finest qualities of character and culture. No other calling offers greater opportunity for service to one's own generation and to the generations of the future.

Clinics and Laboratories

In order that the training may be as practical and thorough as possible, the College of Education maintains its educational clinics and laboratories, which are believed to be as important for its purposes as are the clinics and laboratories of the other professions.

The Henry Barnard School in the College Building, is used as a model school for purposes of observation and demonstration, and for the preliminary training of the student-teachers. In this school, from the beginning of their course to the end, students observe good teaching, and come into immediate contact with the children and with the details of their education. That this school is appreciated is shown by the fact that it is visited each year by more than a thousand teachers and school officers.

Through no other part of the course does the student make such rapid strides as during the half-year of teaching in the outside training schools. The system used in Rhode Island differs to some extent from that used in most of the other states. It is the result of progressive development through many years, and has been given high commendation by educators who are familiar with the various methods in use in different parts of the country. Further details concerning courses of study and the system of training schools will be found later in this catalog.

A Four-Year Course of Preparation for Teaching

With a growing appreciation throughout the country of teaching as a profession, and with a better understanding of the value of a thorough preparation for teaching, the need for a four-year course has been apparent. Rhode Island now offers the opportunity for such a course, an outline of which will be found on the following pages.

The Faculty

The members of the Faculty have been selected with great care for their several fields. There is among them all a spirit of harmony and a willingness to co-operate, invaluable in the establishment of high standards. In order that the character of their work may be better known, the following brief statements concerning a few of the members are here given.

Professor William G. Vinal began his work here in 1911. He is a graduate of the four-year course at Bridgewater Normal School, followed by three years at Lawrence Scientific School, Harvard University, where he received the degrees B. S. and A. M. His teaching experience had been four years in Normal Schools in West Virginia and Massachusetts. Since coming here he has received the Ph. D. degree from Brown University. He is a member of Sigma Xi, is President of the American Nature Study Society, President of the National Association of Directors of Girls' Camps, Vice President of the School Garden Association of America, Associate Editor of the Nature Study Review, and Chairman of the Court of Honor, Greater Providence Council, Boy Scouts of America. Author of numerous articles in various magazines, and of a textbook in botany.

Professor Robert M. Brown is just completing ten years in his present position. He is a graduate of Brown University, with an A. M. degree from Harvard. Previous to coming here he had spent ten years as instructor and principal in high schools in Portsmouth and New Bedford, and nine years as Instructor in Geography at the Worcester Normal School. He has taught in the Summer School of the University of North Carolina, in the Marthas Vineyard Summer Institute, continuously in the summers here since he came to Rhode Island, and is under appointment to teach in the Summer Session at Cornell University in the summer of 1924. In connection with his work here he is also Professor of Geology at Rhode Island State College. Professor Brown is a member of Sigma Xi, a Fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Sciences, a member of the Association of American Geographers, and is President of the National Council of Geography Teachers. He is also associate editor of the Journal of Geography, of the International Encyclopedia, to which he has contributed articles on geography, associate editor of the Young Peoples Encyclopedia, to which he has contributed articles on Africa, and editor of the geography department of the American Educational Institute. He is the author of many articles and pamphlets on geography and physiography.

Professor Grace E. Bird is a graduate of Chicago University, with an A. M. degree from Columbia and a Ph. D. degree from Brown. Previous to coming here in 1914 she had been Assistant in English in Chicago University, instructor in high schools in Helena, Montana, and Elgin, Illinois, assistant principal of Morgan Park High School, Illinois, and instructor in the Plymouth, New Hampshire, Normal School. In connection with her work here she is also Professor of Educational Psychology at Rhode Island State College. Dr. Bird is the author of Historical Plays for Children, and of various articles in educational, literary, and scientific magazines.

Professor Charles Carroll is a graduate of Brown University, with degrees A. B., A. M., and Ph. D. He is also a graduate of Harvard Law School, and practiced law for 15 years in Rhode Island. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and author of ten books on Rhode Island Education, besides a large number of articles on educational subjects and upon the history of Rhode Island. In addition to his work here Dr. Carroll is Professor of School Law and Administration at Rhode Island State College, and Deputy Director of Vocational Education for Rhode Island. He has been a member of the College of Education Faculty for seven years.

Professor Benjamin G. Sinclair is a graduate of Brown University. He is one of the few graduates who received at the end of the four-year course both the A. B. and the A. M. degrees. After a year at Harvard Law School he completed the studies required by the Federal Government for the United States Consular Service, as a result of which he received from President Roosevelt an appointment, which he was unable to accept, as Student Interpreter to the American Embassy at Tokio. His experience as a teacher, before coming to the College of Education in 1921, had been as Instructor in English at the University of Nebraska, and eleven years as head of the department of History and Economics at the State Normal School at Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Professor Florence M. Ross is completing her first year as head of the Health Department of the College of Education. She is a graduate of Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, which was later moved to Wellesley College. In addition she has taken many courses at Sargeant School of Gymnastics, in the Boston Teachers' Courses, and at Wellesley, and holds the Red Cross Swimming and Life Saving Diploma. She has served for two years as Instructor at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn; for three years as Organizer and Director of Physical Education and Social Work for Women and Girls at the Civic Association of Norwood, Mass.; and for two years as Instructor of Physical Education and Athletics for the public schools of Brookline, Mass. Since that time she has completed the medical course, with the degree of M. D., at Tufts Medical School, serving as Interne at New England Hospital for Women and Children at Roxbury, Mass., as Instructor in Biology at Tufts Pre-Medical School, and for six years as Assistant to the Dean of Tufts Pre-Medical School.

Professor Elmer S. Hosmer is a graduate of Brown University, with degrees of A. B., and A. M. He studied music with Carl Faelten, S. B. Whitney, George E. Whitney, George W. Chadwick, and Percy Goetchius. For eight years he taught music at Perkins Institution for the Blind. Since that time he has been Principal of the high schools at Bristol, Conn., and at Pawtucket. He is widely known as an organist and as a composer of numerous compositions for piano, organ, and voice, including the cantatas, Columbus, Pilgrims of 1620, Our First Flag, and The Man Without a Country.

Professor Eugene Tuttle is a graduate of Plymouth Normal School, and of Bates College. He received the degree of A. B. at Bates, and A. M. at Teachers College, Columbia University. He has served two years as a high school teacher, six years as a district superintendent of schools, five years as Director of Training at the Keene Normal School, and three years as Assistant Superintendent of Schools at Nashua.

Professor Frank E. Waite is a graduate of Michigan State Normal College, and of the University of Michigan. He received the degree of A. B. at Michigan, and A. M. at Teachers College, Columbia University. Previous to coming to Rhode Island he had served for nine years as principal of grammar and high schools, instructor for the Packard Motor Car Company, superintendent of schools, and Professor of Psychology and Education in a Nebraska Normal College.

Professor Marion Dodge Weston is a graduate of Mount Holyoke, with degrees of A. B. and A. M. She has also a diploma for teaching Nature Study and Geography from Teachers College, Columbia University, and the degree of Ph. D. from Brown University. Previous to coming here in 1910 she had been for three years Assistant in the Botanical Laboratory at Mount Holyoke College.

Professor Adelaide Patterson attended the University of Minnesota, and is a graduate of Emerson College with the degree of B. L. I. She has taught in the public schools of North Dakota and of Minnesota, and before coming here in 1911 was a special teacher of Reading and English in East Milton, Mass. She has published a textbook, "How to Speak," which is widely used.

Miss Harriet L. Sherman is an artist and designer as well as a teacher. Her practical training has been secured through five years of work in San Francisco Art Institute, Pratt Institute, and special work in New York City. During the War she was connected with the Art Department of the Red Cross. She has served as a high school teacher of art, as a supervisor of art in the public schools, and as instructor in art in the teachers' colleges of Cleveland, Ohio, Michigan, and New York. She is a successful practical designer, as well as a most successful teacher.

The Cost of an Education for Teaching

To residents of this State who give promise of becoming efficient teachers, Rhode Island offers, at a cost to itself of more than $250 per student per year, a practical education, with free textbooks and supplies, and, to those living at a distance of more than five miles from the College, a generous share of the cost of transportation, in return for an agreement to teach for at least two years in the schools of the State. That this agreement has been fully met is evidenced by the fact that the graduates of the past have taught an average of much more than ten years each, a condition that could have been met only by a body of truly successful teachers.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The college maintains no dormitory, but those who wish to board in the city will be aided in securing accommodations. The President especially recommends the St. Maria Home on Governor street and the Young Women's Christian Association on Washington street. Students should consult the President before engaging board elsewhere, as they will be permitted to board only in places approved by him.

A school lunch room is maintained, subject to the general control of the President at which wholesome lunches may be obtained every school day. As a part of the expense of the lunch room is borne by the college, the prices are kept at the lowest point consistent with good materials and efficient service.

Textbooks and ordinary supplies are furnished to all students free.

A limited amount of aid may be given to students in the upper classes through the students' loan fund. This fund, amounting to about $1,200 has been given by graduating classes and alumni during the past few years. The fund is deposited with the State Treasurer.

The library facilities of Providence are unusually extensive. In addition to the large and carefully selected college library, there are at the service of the student the Providence Public Library, the Providence Athenæum, the Library of the Rhode Island Historical Society, and the State Library.

The Providence Public Library offers to all students of the college, upon the same conditions as to residents of the city, the use of its large and carefully chosen collection. Departments especially valuable to the college students are the Harris Collection on Slavery and the Civil War, the Educational Study-room, the "Standard Library" of best literature, the Reference Department, and the Children's Room. The library staff co-operates heartily in making known to the students the resources of the library, both by lectures to classes and by special assistance to individuals.

Graduates from all courses in the Rhode Island College of Education may now secure admission to advanced standing in many colleges and universities, where they will receive due credit leading to degrees in education.

THE HENRY BARNARD SCHOOL

The Henry Barnard School, on the first floor of the college building, comprises a kindergarten (Children's School), and eight grades, with one room for each. Most of the children come from the city district adjoining the building. Others from outside the district may be admitted on the payment of a moderate tuition, if there is room for them. A new building for this school is to be erected as soon as possible, leaving the entire present building for the College students.

The functions served by the Henry Barnard School are as follows:

1. It furnishes opportunity for the students of the College of Education to see good teaching. It supplies illustrative material for class discussion on methods. Lesson plans may here be tested and criticised from experience, instead of on a theoretical or imaginary basis. It is to the college what the clinic is to the school of medicine. It helps to keep the work of the college on the right basis by constantly magnifying the practical instead of the theoretical. It gives a worthy ideal to the prospective teacher.

2. It furnishes under the most helpful and encouraging conditions an opportunity for the young teacher to begin her practice teaching. For one hour of the day the school may be used for this work. The rest of the day the children spend under the regular grade teachers. By having this preliminary practice so closely connected with the study of methods, something more is added to the discussions than could be gotten from observation alone. At the same time the student has an opportunity to do her first teaching in a most stimulating environment, and with little responsibility for the general discipline of the room. Her first effort may thus be given to a masterly presentation of her subject unhampered by needlessly disturbing conditions. She gains confidence in her own ability, learns to be critical of herself and to accept criticism from others, and in a measure gets the professional point of view, which is, essentially that by continued endeavor and the wise use of aids of various sorts, it is possible to improve continually in skill and in general teaching ability. She is brought to a recognition of the fact that good teaching is fundamental to discipline. It follows that the young teacher is here to emphasize the essential matters, and she is well fitted for the next step in her preparation, the training school.

3. It is a meeting place for theory and practice in the school itself, offering to teachers in the different departments facilities for testing themselves and their own methods in the light of experience with the children for whom the work is intended.

4. It should illustrate for those teaching elsewhere the methods and courses recommended by the College of Education. The Henry Barnard School, as a school of observation, should be the model school through which the State may present, as far as possible, its ideal of a satisfactory public school. It should not attempt to carry on its work expensively or to include courses which may not to advantage be included in other public schools. Its aim should be to show how a course of study that is truly efficient in its results may at the same time be conducted with economy.

5. It provides opportunity for the study and evaluation of new ideas which seem to give special promise of educational worth.

CHILDREN'S SCHOOL

The Kindergarten or Children's School is the result of several years of first-hand educational experimentation with children from three to six years of age. It is, moreover, an educational experiment in process. No estimable contribution from any worthy educational source or system is excluded. The school purposes real education from the sincere study of young children. It is coming to be recognized more and more that children under the usual school age have intellectual needs that are greatly and generally overlooked.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

The spirit of the Children's School has propelled itself into the grades beyond. It is intended that there shall be no realizable break in the education of children as they pass from the kindergarten to the first grade or from one grade to another. The equipment and methods of instruction of the Elementary School are of the type that allows the process of education to proceed naturally and directly in a socialized environment. The Henry Barnard School is really a laboratory where it is possible to observe pedagogy in the making. Experimentation with the reading process in particular is revealing on the part of the pupils possibilities which are remarkable. Owing to the peculiar nature of the training received, the children, besides learning to read and write, have become independent workers, able to master many difficulties for themselves. They have therefore been given much freedom in the selection of their reading, and of other individual and group work as well. There is little class drill except such as is self imposed, but much individuality and spontaneity.

It has been a task of no small difficulty to find books of a suitable nature for the children of these grades; as they read eagerly and with surprising discrimination, and soon tire of books that are too easy for them.

MUSIC

The reorganization of the course in music inaugurated in the experimental classes of last year, has been constantly progressive throughout the present year. Education in music begins in the Children's School. The ordinary meagre type of musical training usually accorded to young children is replaced by an enriched and happy opportunity for spontaneous music interpretation, expression, and appreciation. The pupils of the Henry Barnard School are encouraged to sing almost as freely as they talk. Both individual and chorus singing have proper place in the schedule. Abundant opportunity is given for free expression in response to rhythm. Interest in orchestral instruments is fostered by the use of a playing orchestra with a child conductor. Music appreciation through active listening is an important phase of the enriched course.

VISITING DAY AT HENRY BARNARD SCHOOL

Visitors to the Henry Barnard School are welcome at all times. It is found, however, that visiting teachers desire to propose many questions as to the methods and materials in use in the Children's School and in the various grades. It is obviously impossible to give time every day to the conferences which these necessary demands involve. Since it is the desire of the Rhode Island College of Education that observers should receive all the attention and help which they seek, the program for Fridays has been arranged so as to meet this need. Friday, then, will be recognized as the most satisfactory visiting day.

THE TRAINING SCHOOLS

The training schools are established by contract with the local authorities. The schools used for training purposes are indicated by the list of critic teachers given in this catalog. Critic teachers are nominated by the Trustees of the College and elected by the School Committees in the towns in which they serve. Each critic in the regular grades is given charge of two rooms, with the usual number of children and a student teacher is assigned to each room.

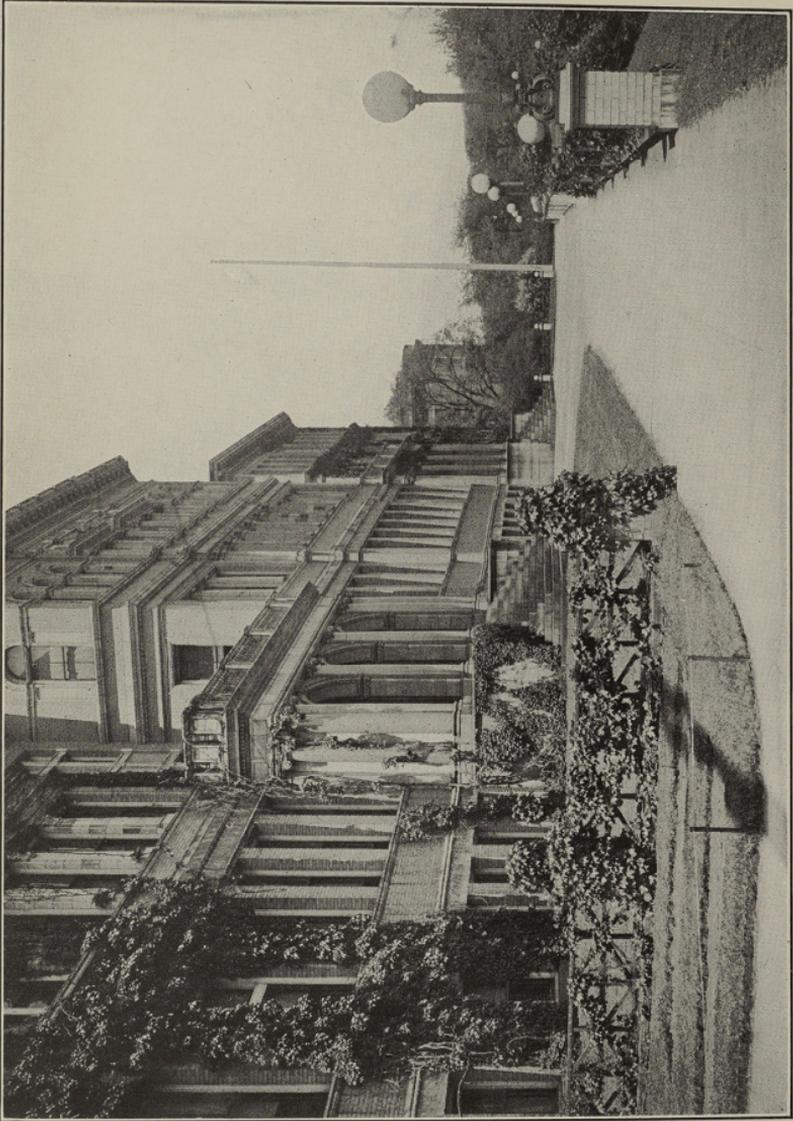

The buildings in which the training schools are located range all the way from two to thirty rooms in size.

The Rhode Island system of training schools embodies to a remarkable extent the recommendations of the "Report of the Committee of Fifteen on the Training of Teachers." After the first preliminary teaching in the Observation School, student teachers are trained, not by making them assistants or substitutes, or by giving them small groups of children, but by placing them in charge of regular schools under such conditions as they will meet after graduation. Here during the five months of training they are thrown on their own resources to a large extent. They learn to master the work of one grade and to teach with due regard for the development of the children; and they gain that close contact with child life, so essential to a good teacher, which can be gained only by one who is in charge of his own school.

MILEAGE AND CAR FARES

The special fund for mileage is distributed as indicated above among the residents of the State who are entitled to free tuition. The amount each receives, up to a maximum of $80 a semester, is proportionate to the number of days attendance and to the distance the student must travel in coming from his home to the college. Students who reside less than five miles from the college are not entitled to mileage, unless this is ordered by the Committee on mileage for special reasons. One half of the annual appropriation for mileage is distributed at the end of each semester. Students boarding in Providence receive the same mileage as if they lived at home.

Student teachers assigned to training schools in places in which they reside receive no mileage, but may receive reimbursement for payment of car fares between their homes and Providence, or elsewhere, when such travel is required by the college.

THE ESPLANADE

Student teachers not residing in Providence and assigned to training schools in that city are entitled to mileage as when attending the college, but do not receive payments for car fares. Student teachers residing in Providence or the non-mileage zone and assigned to training schools in other towns are entitled to receive full remuneration for the payment of car fares between their homes and their training schools. Students whose assignments require them to come through Providence receive mileage as when attending the college and, in addition, are entitled to full remuneration for car fares from Providence to their training schools. It is expected that in other cases the student teachers will receive mileage or car fares not to exceed the cost of travel required by the college. No assignment can be made which shall incur an expense of more than fifty cents a day for car fares, exclusive of mileage, except by vote of the Trustees.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Candidates must be at least seventeen years old, or must reach the age of seventeen before the end of the term in which they enter.

Each must present a written testimonial of moral character, a physician's statement certifying to good health and freedom from serious physical defects, a declaration of intention to complete a course of professional education, and certificate of graduation from an approved course in an approved high school, or satisfactory evidence of an equivalent education.

No one can be admitted who does not agree to teach for at least two years in this State.

Form of Student's Agreement

In consideration of my admission as a student to the Rhode Island College of Education and of the professional training afforded me therein, I hereby agree to teach in the public schools of Rhode Island for at least two years after having attended said school, unless excused therefrom by the Board of Trustees of said college. I declare in good faith that I fully expect to complete one of the prescribed courses of study in said school and to follow teaching as a regular occupation.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATION

An entrance examination is now required for admission, as the College is unable to accept all who wish to enter. As soon as the new building is completed it will be possible to accept a larger number. The examinations will consist of modern scientific tests, covering the practical fundamentals of an education, and calling for the quickness and accuracy of mental response necessary for successful teaching. The examination for admission in September will be given in the Assembly Hall at 2 o'clock on Monday, June 25, 1923. It is expected that the entire quota of students to be admitted in September will be accepted at this time, and that no further examination will be given until January, 1924. Those who wish to enter in September must therefore be present at 2 o'clock on Monday, June 25. The examination will last one hour. The January examination is to be given at 2 o'clock on Monday, January 14, 1924.

HIGH SCHOOL COURSE OF STUDY RECOMMENDED

The high school course to be chosen should, in general, be such as would be accepted for admission to the New England colleges, and should include the following:

An equivalent of the college requirements in English.

Successful study of one foreign language for at least two years.

Laboratory courses in physics and chemistry sufficient for the college entrance requirements.

At least two years of work in history.

The usual course in high school mathematics.

A review of arithmetic, grammar, physiology, history of the United States and of Rhode Island, and geography.

Some elementary training in music.

An equivalent of at least two periods a week for two years in drawing. In this subject there should be a reasonable degree of proficiency along the following lines:

Appearance drawing of common objects, either from the object or from memory.

Nature drawing in pencil, ink, or color.

Scales of color in values and intensities.

Design as applied to book covers and other simple constructions.

Lettering and working drawing, both free-hand and mechanical.

History of ancient and modern art.

Students who have not had the physics and chemistry must take courses in these subjects at the College of Education.

Those who have not had the specified work in drawing in the high schools must take this as extra work at the College of Education.

Those who cannot read music easily must take a special course in music during the first semester.

COURSES OF STUDY

The courses of study include the following:

1. A four-year course leading to the Bachelor of Education degree.

Those who have completed one of the junior courses, or have done similar work in another recognized institution, will be given due credit towards the completion of the four-year course.

2. A one-year course for college graduates, leading to a degree in Education.

3. A junior course of two and one-half years, with training in the elementary schools.
4. A similar course with training in the kindergarten and primary schools.
5. A Library course of the same length, accepted as the junior portion of a four-year library course leading to a degree.
6. A Co-operative course, with two years at the College of Education and two years at Rhode Island State College.

THE SENIOR COURSE

Those who are to complete the four-year course are expected to complete first one of the junior courses, in order that they may thus become proficient in the art of teaching. For the balance of the work the following subjects are required:

SUMMER SESSION, JULY 2 TO AUGUST 10, 1923

The Trustees and Faculty of Rhode Island College of Education take pleasure in announcing an increased number of courses for the summer session to meet the needs of the growing number of teachers who are taking advantage of the opportunities offered. A few years ago it would have seemed an astonishing statement to make to say that one half of all the public school teachers in the State had during the year attended at least one regular course for teachers, yet this is true of Rhode Island teachers for the year 1922, and it will be true again in 1923. The increasing desire for further study along professional lines is one of the hopeful signs of the times.

To make possible a better selection of the courses to be taken, the school day has been lengthened to correspond with that of the regular session. Classes begin at 9:20 and end at 3:30, with an opportunity for lunch at any time from 11:30 to 2.

Four rooms of the Henry Barnard School will be in session for purposes of observation and demonstration for the first four weeks of the term.

Courses in the Summer Session are open only to teachers and to students who are preparing to teach in Rhode Island.

Credits for work done may be used for securing teachers' certificates, the diploma of the Junior Course of the College of Education, or the degrees given by the College of Education.

No course will be given for less than a reasonable minimum number of students, and in most of the courses the number of students admitted will not be expected to exceed 35. In case the number of applicants is too large, preference will be given to those taking the subject for credit who register in advance.

Applicants are reminded that regular attendance is expected. If the number of absences is excessive, no credit can be given except by permission of the Faculty of Government.

Students now in the College of Education may register only through their advisers. Candidates for teacher's certificates are expected to take assigned subjects each year, and to register for these courses at the office of the Commissioner of Education. Class work begins at 9:20 the first morning. Registration should be completed before that time.

Students are not expected to take more than four courses. Credit for five will be allowed only by special written permission from the office of the Commissioner of Education or from the student advisers at the College.

All courses are given daily, classes beginning promptly at the time stated. There is an interval of five minutes between classes.

Professor Hosmer will meet any students who wish to play in an orchestra on Tuesdays or Thursdays at 3:35 o'clock, or on both days if preferred.
