RICOLED '41

Dear Alma Mater, wise and kind

To thy fair name shall e'er belong

Our grateful praises and our love

The tribute of our song.

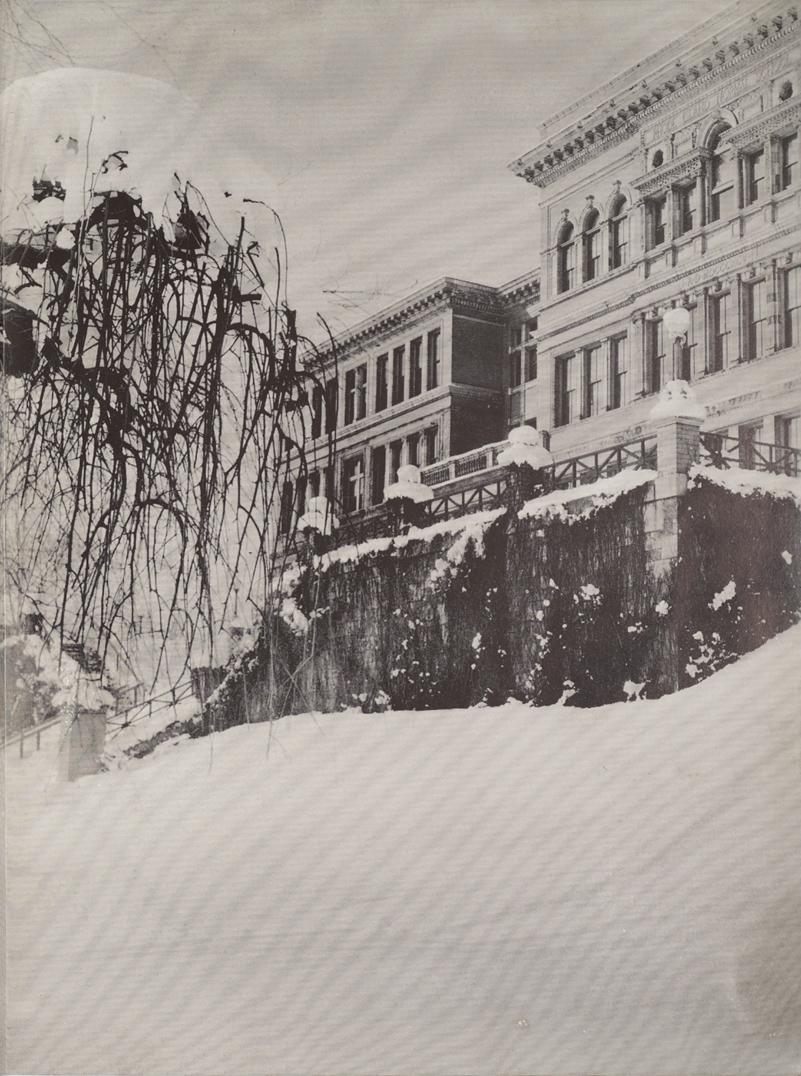

Thou guardian of the sacred shrine

Of truth that makes us free

We cherish thy beloved fame

And pledge our loyalty.

R.I.C.E. all hail to thee
All hail to Alma Mater
Enshrin'd thou art within the heart
Of every son and daughter.

THE STAFF

GATHERED together on these pages as they have often gathered together in the inner sanctum of the RICOLED office are members of that necessary publications' evil, the Editorial Staff. Driven by a desire to excell the excellent, the Staff has worked long and faithfully to create a book worthy to take its place among its noted predecessors, the twelve previous issues of RICOLED.

What success this thirteenth issue may meet can be attributed not only to those pictured here, but to the many people who so cheerfully gave of their time, talent, and coöperation that they have come to be considered as part of the "unofficial" staff. Mr.

Professor Eugene Tuttle Financial Adviser

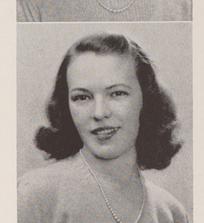

MISS ALICE THORPE Editorial Adviser

John G. Read, and William Mc-Kenna, '42, have earned their places on this unofficial staff for their many fine photographs. For their aid to the Business Manager, the names of Carolyn Cohen, '41 and Barbara Blotcher, '41, belong here. Mention must be made of the creative editorial assistance of Rita Carey, '41, Elena Calabro, '42, and Elizabeth Ormsby.

Members of the official and unofficial staffs have striven to make RICOLED, 1941 a typical picture of the College, that some time in the future when these pages are read again, the students may truthfully say, "This is the R. I. C. E. that I have known and loved."

DEDICATION

DEAN

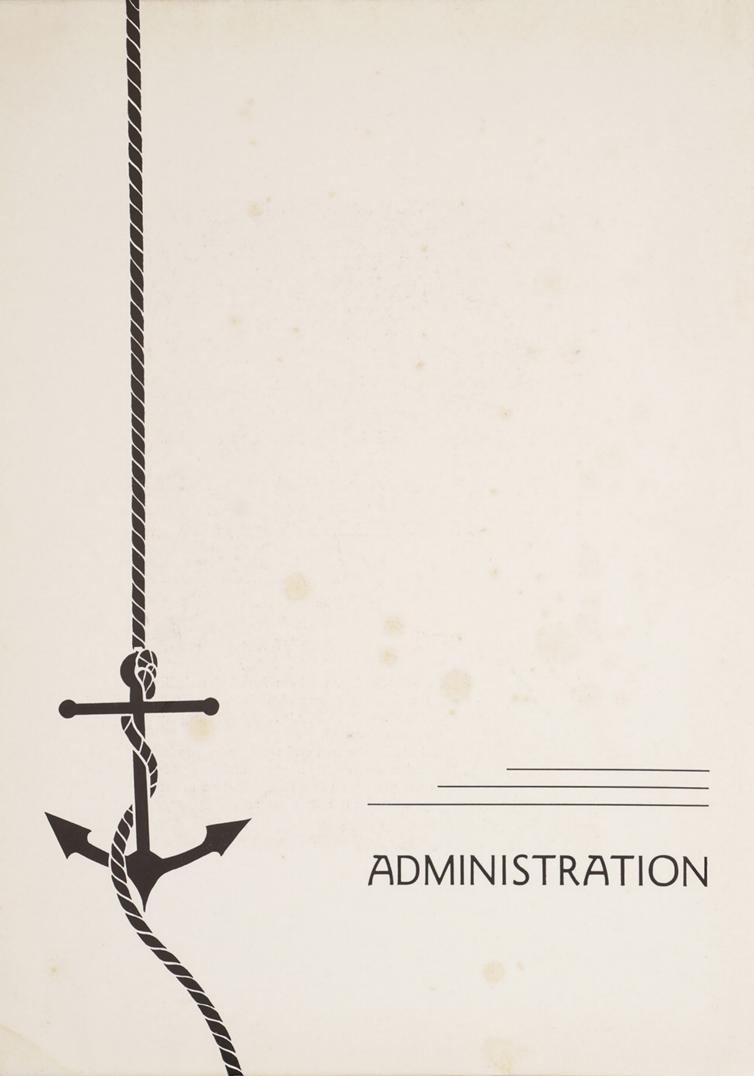

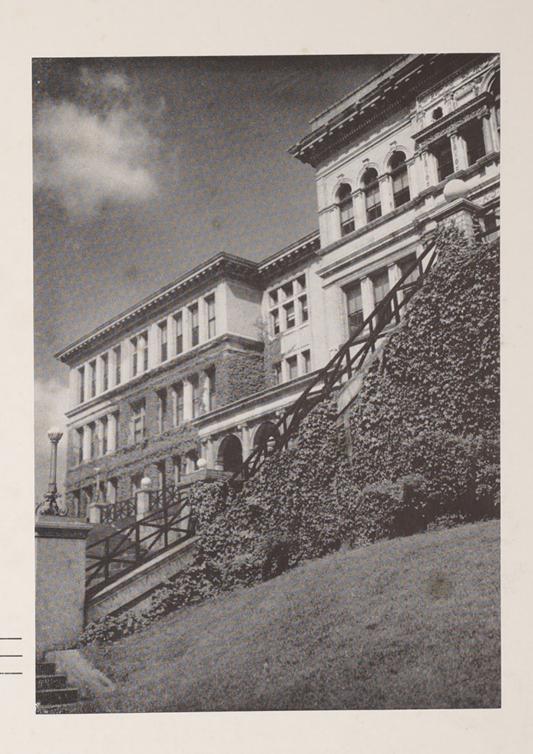

In her teaching, we have found the challenge that is the precursor of wisdom.

In her character, we have found the integrity we admire above all.

In her liberal spirit, we have found appreciation and understanding of youth and its problems. In her personality, we have found an attractive promise for our own to-morrow.

THE DEANS

Professor Connor Dean of Women

CATHERINE CONNOR

Brilliant conversationalist, mistress of savoir faire, Dean Connor manages to add to her duties as Professor of History and Dean of Women, the role of director of college social activities. At home in camp or ballroom, in Paris or Pawtucket, her assurance and vitality make possible the successful pursuance of her many and varied activities.

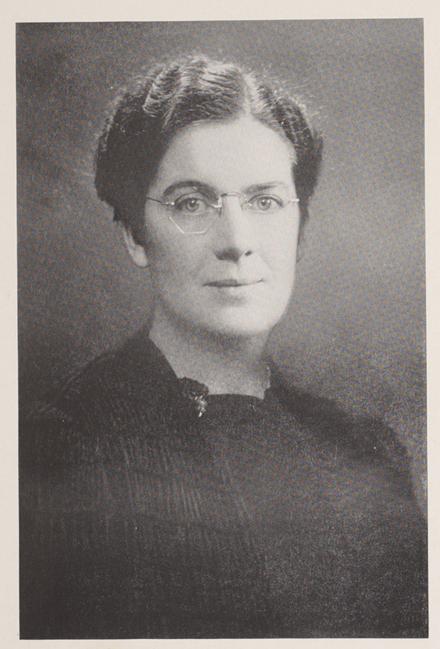

FREDERICK DONOVAN

Tall, sandy-haired Dean Donovan, urbane and easy, devotes his days to leading fledgling teachers through the paths of English literature and to easing perplexed students through the mazes of undergraduate difficulties. John Donne, or John Doe, he meets with equal warmth and cordiality.

ALICE THORPE

Friendly, calm, possessing a keen interest in the students, Dean Thorpe helps to keep the Freshmen happy, and to make their orientation a bit easier through her pleasant guidance and advice. Her smile has helped to ease many a strained situation and under her tutelage the Freshmen quickly earned the good will and esteem of the upperclassmen.

PROFESSOR JOSEPH

In Memoriam

The morning of March twelfth found a shocked and grieved student body at Rhode Island College of Education. It was impossible to believe that the slow-walking, drab frocked, philosophic figure of Professor Lunt would no longer be seen. Although time has eased the shock, the memory of his kindness, wisdom and understanding lingers on and on in the hearts of his students.

RICHARD LUNT

HENRY

Known affectionately as simply "The Barnard" the laboratory school is the proving ground for the yet untried teachers and the demonstration room for the initiated. An integral part of the College, the four brick walls of Henry Barnard School enclose an Armageddon in which unnumbered and unsung aspiring teachers have, with tumultuous pulses, faced for the first time a sea of uplifted young faces, masking the unknown, the unguessed.

SENIOR

The Class of 1941 has been a singularly united Senior class because it has been free of the factions and cliques which sometimes cause discontent during the last college year. Much of the credit for maintaining this unity can be given to the officers pic-

CLASS WILL •

We, the class of 1941, Rhode Island College of Education, being of relieved mind, do hereby will and bequeath tell-tale traits and favorite fancies, in fond hope that those so fortunately chosen to carry them on, may help to keep the memory of our class lingering at Alma Mater for many years to come.

- I, Eleanor Dodsworth, will to any absent-minded Junior my abundant collection of 10 cents due cards,
- I, Sally Krasnow, do solemnly and joyously bequeath to Ruth Rotman my desire to be in two places at the same time, but mostly in the other place.
- I, Alice Collier, do bequeath to any underweight underclassman the excess poundage I plan to lose this summer.
 - I, Anthony Iasiello, will and bequeath to Jack Cannon all the fruitless, but interesting arguments I have had with the coach on the subject of baseball.
 - I, Madelyn Sullivan, bequeath to Agnes Gormley the "midnight oil" to preserve and pass on to whoever seems in need of it.
 - We, Rita Standel and Jane Place, do hereby bequeath to Millie Smith and Rosemary Grimes that feeling of anxious anticipation as Dr. Whipple, Mr. Ethier, Professor Weber, and Miss Carlson ride by and wave to them on the way to R.I.C.E.
 - I, Grace Maddren, do hereby bequeath to Cecilia Durigan better luck than I had in getting a front seat in Assembly.
 - I, Daniel Kitchen, Jr., do hereby bequeath to Al Sugden the gentle task of controlling his brood on all basketball trips.
 - I, Ann Emond, do bequeath to some aspiring underclassman the nearly impossible task of pacifying jitterbug classmates while "Lucille" copies down the words.
 - I, Christina Libramento, bequeath to Virginia Motta the thrilling, but not willing, experience of facing one hundred people plus, in Senior Demonstration.
 - I, Cecilia Sullivan, do hereby bequeath to Inez Bliven, Marion Crowell, Ruth Hathaway, and Amy Wilbur the duty of upholding the reputation of the fourth floor as the peppiest as well as the noisiest floor at the Y. W. C. A.
 - I, Ruth Lawless, do hereby bequeath to Barbara Ryan my very popular seat in the center of the first row in Economics and Sociology.
 - I, Barbara Joan Geoghegan, do hereby bequeath to Joseph Brigham Young the ability to persevere in finding a suitable substitute as his advisor and confidante when I have left these hallowed walls.
 - I, Eleanor McAuliffe, do hereby bequeath to Mitzi Hall and Peggy Martin my uncanny ability to find my inartistic personage chosen to demonstrate such inabilities in this field.
 - I, Francis S. Milligan, do hereby bequeath as a sacred heritage the solemn duty of adjourning forum meetings to Carl Steinwachs, with the stipulation that he be present every Thursday morning, waiting for the opportune minute.

- I, Margaret J. Briggs, bequeath to next year's editor of the Anchor a calm and patient ear to voices commending or attacking this publication.
- I, Mary V. Fanning, bequeath to Gertrude Baron my locker, which I have possessed for four years without knowing its number.
- I, Anna Blankstein, bequeath all worries of advertisements for the RICOLED to future business editors.

Being of a sweet and benevolent nature, I, Carolyn Cohen, being allowed to slip graciously from these portals, cheerfully bequeath to Miss Katherine L. Cuzner the serene and thought-provoking atmosphere of a library without my presence.

- I, Edna Conlin, will to Ruth Brown my reserved seat in chapel with the hope that she will use it occasionally.
- I, Sarah D. Hagopian, bequeath to Shirley Cohen all the hard knocks which came my way during the rounds of my four year battle.
- I, Barbara Tefft, do bequeath my camp by the sea to all or any who are willing to worry about finding a place for resting the weary bones of all who wish to sleep.
 - I, Mildred Bucklin, do bequeath to Mitzi Hall a Johnny at Providence College.
- I, Metro Kwasnicki, Baron of Galicia, Ukraine, do hereby bequeath to Richard H. Turner, my Bohemian tovarich, the privilege of saying "nazdorovia" to all those who have no other place to go but the Mansion House.
- I, Catherine M. Conway, will my enviable record of no cuts to Frances M. Campbell for
- I, Barbara Henries, do hereby will and bequeath to Mary Smith, Editha Rylah, and Mavis Rowell the unfinished business of putting Burrillville on the map.
- I, Doris Tyson, do hereby bequeath to any interested underclassman my many hours of association with the wild life in Dr. Weston's sunny laboratory.
- I, Virginia Palmer, do hereby bequeath to Mary McArdle the privilege of being transported to school every morning to the strains of Andy Jacobson's Orchestra and the warmth of the car heater.
- I, Jane B. Suita, do hereby bequeath to Gay Lukasiewicz the privilege of being called "A Polish Poppy."

We three, Helen Mellen, Pat Kretzmann, and Mary Murray do bequeath to some unsuspecting triumvirate the good times we had over weekends, here, there, and yon.

- I, Peggy Dixon, do bequeath to the next President of the Outing Club a handy little book full of luscious, but elastic menus for all occasions at any price.
 - I, Leora A. Balkcom, leave to Mildred Briden my love for quaint hats.

- I, Lillian McGowan, do hereby bequeath to Phyllis Carey all those wonderful chairs that have ruined every pair of stockings I have ever owned.
- I, Lucille Daigle, being of sound mind and unreasonable estate do hereby will and bequeath to Joe Brady, hereafter to be known as the party of all parts, my unusual musical ability to sing at any one time all parts of any song, with the hope that he, too, may be Forum song leader.

We, Dorothy Stelljes and Muriel Tobin, do hereby bequeath our seats on the local to Mary Helfrich with the stipulation that she keep them well filled with College of Pharmacy and P. C. students for the amusement of the commuters.

- I, Marian Litchfield, leave to Jean Ford and Virginia Dawson fond memories of me, for which bequest I expect them to be duly grateful.
- I, Virginia Kirklewski, bequeath to Margaret Ashworth the very great pleasure of arising at an early hour in order to make the 7:25 bus.
 - I, Virginia Crowell, bequeath the job of mailing the Anchor every month to whoever wants it.
 - I, Pauline Maynard, do hereby bequeath to Arline Noel the unwished for ability to forget glasses, pen, pocketbook, etc., everywhere.
 - I, Ruth Halton, bequeath to Miriam Golden my dislike for Chinese food with the hope that she may have better luck than I in finding something appealing on the menu when the gang decides to eat downtown in a Chinese restaurant.
 - I, Mary A. Costello, do hereby bequeath to Barbara Ryan my ability to leave belongings in other peoples' cars.
 - I, Ellen Bliven, bequeath to my sister Inez the responsibility of carrying on the name of Bliven at the Y. W. C. A.
 - I, Margaret Walsh, bequeath to Rosemary Burns the job of trying to appear taller than she really is.
 - I, Jeanette M. Piatt, do hereby bequeath to Geraldine Gill my ability to arrive at Practice on time.
 - I, Ray Ferri, bequeath to anyone who wants them the following: my complete disregard for height, the doubtful honor of being May Queen for two years, and my lifetime pass to the dormitory at a nearby Teachers College—all of these with the stipulation that they be jealously guarded.
 - I, Frances I. Graben, bequeath to whoever would not mind bow-legs, my mania for horses.
 - I, Edward G. Hunt, do will and bequeath to Morris Russak all the rounding up activities necessary to insure good attendance at any meeting of the International Relations Club.
 - I, Raymond D'Aguanno, finding such a total lack of Table Tennis ability among the Freshmen, and having so much skill myself, do leave all this ability to be divided among all the freshmen men so that they may all be proficient at Table Tennis. Furthermore, I bequeath all my tricky serves to Sonny Smith.
 - I, Mary E. Foley, being of sound mind and body, hereby bequeath to my cousin Dorothy Foley the privilege of being a quiet Senior.

- I, Gertrude Laurienzo, do hereby bequeath to Marietta Vitullo one dozen handkerchiefs and enough school tickets to supply her for the rest of the year.
- I, Barbara Curry, bequeath to Lorena Ward the responsibility of taking good care of a certain piece of property for me for the next year.
 - I, Doris Dohring, leave to my friends in the class of '42 my pleasant training experience.
- I, Marie C. Doris, do give and bequeath all the annoyance and fun caused by having a popular given name and family name to anyone who finds herself in my predicament.
- I, Rosemary McCarthy, bequeath to Bill McDougald the ability to dash into Sociology late and innocently exclaim: "Gosh, that library clock must be slow!" and then explain his way out of it when someone comes in and says, "Mr. McDougald just left his lunch in the ping-pong room."
- I, Lillian Anne Allen, being of sound mind and body do hereby bequeath to Margaret Adams the honor of being first in all alphabetical lists and consequently sitting in the front row in all classes—Assembly excepted.
- I, Margaret Catterall, do bequeath to Claire D. Langlois the pleasure of three more years of travelling on the 7:40 bus.
- I, Jean Sheehan, do hereby bequeath to Mitzi Hall an ever willing boy friend to transport the gang from school to Gibson's every afternoon.
- We, Gertrude Rivard and Mary Rooney, bequeath to Doris "Betsey" Murphy the privilege of being last to try to catch the 8:13 train every morning.
- I, Edith Fogell, being of sound mind but shaken body, hereby bequeath my daily morning trip with all its vicissitudes in the bouncing Barnard bus, to someone with enough ballast to stay on the seat while riding rough roads.
- I, Kathryn M. Morgan, bequeath to Mitzi Hall the tunes "Nagasaki" and "My Blue Heaven" to be played only after school hours.
- I, Ruth Bowen, do hereby bequeath to Dorothy Valentine my post in the teachers' lunch room so that she may get a candid view of the faculty.
- I, Lena M. Belgers, of Saylesville, bequeath to Mildred Briden and Francis Carter the immediate right to defend "our town" against anything which may be said about it, good, bad, or indifferent.
- I, Jean Frances Anderson, being of unsound mind, cannot legally bequeath anything to anybody.
- I, Ruth C. Donahue, do hereby will and bequeath to Barbara B. Behan my desire for knowledge and consequently my seats in the libraries acquired after the "reformation."
- We, Margaret Corbett and W. Jean Carson, hereby do will and bequeath to Mary Barrett the dream of having commuters who do not "crab."
- We, Helen Lafreniere and Claire Olivier, do will and bequeath our friendship to Alice Kelly and Anne Kearns.
- I, Iva Berberian, being of sound mind, bequeath to Carolyn Godfrey my long, black, curly eyelashes usually hidden behind spectacles in school.

- I, Dorothy Reardon, hereby bequeath to Eileen Meikle a mirror for her locker in the hope that she will find it available for her own use once in a while.
- I, John C. Murray, bequeath to Joseph E. Brady my tendency to ever carry discussions into the abstract and metaphysical wherein opponents usually become mentally disarmed and whereupon our techniques of circumlocution tend to show that all arguments contrary to ours are either illogical or absurd or both.
- We, the Messrs. L. H. Mailloux and T. U. Lowery do hereby bequeath to Jack Cannon and Art Pontarelli our voluminous four-year notebook to carry on their professional work here at the college and out in the field—not too much of a burden we hope!
- I, Elizabeth F. Crook, being of sound and disposing mind at the present, do hereby bequeath to the sophomore and junior class presidents (not mentioning any names) in the hope that any blot on my name and on the name of my family shall be erased—and to my successor that he may never have to borrow one—a large, beautifully carved politician's gavel.
 - I, Robert T. Byron, bequeath to some unwary male in the Junior Class the privilege of arranging a Social Calendar and the pleasure of being Chairman of May Day.
 - I, James Warren, do pass on to one Joseph Brady, the benign blessing of being the man for whom the school has done the most.
 - I, Frederic King, being of sound mind and good Draft material, do hereby leave to my friend James Sullivan from Newport, the doubtful joys of Fall River traffic on the way to Providence every morning.
 - I, Mary Louise Wheelan, leave to my sister Eileen my share in our cooperative effort to hold high the burning tri-torch of Faith in ourselves, Hope for the future, and Charity toward anyone in need of it, in the firm belief that she is quite capable of carrying it.
 - I, Amelia Wargowski, do formally bequeath to Lois Murray my five-year-old sneakers which have been battered by four years of interscholastic sports—also a pair of new shoelaces. They're burnished with polish—keep them that way.
 - I, Kaye "Kathy" Hughes, hereby bequeath to Marjorie "Trigger" Heath, and Peggy "Wahoo" Martin the joy of retaining Camp Counsellor names during their remaining years at R. I. C. E.
 - I, Eunice M. Olson, hereby bequeath to all East Providence underclassmen the daily privilege of rushing through the Industrial Trust Building to catch an 8:50 Smith Street car.
 - I, Eileen McGrath, will to Kay Fuller my position as "Madame Lazonga."
 - I, Guy Villatico, do hereby will and bequeath to Wally Mason the honor of giving Mr. Archer all our broken records.
 - I, Elaine Guny, do will and bequeath to Shirley Kauffman my ability to get to chapel at least once a month.
 - I, Mary Stafford, hereby do bequeath the privilege of losing her equilibrium at formal functions to Gladys Hallvarson, who found my predicament a source of amusement.
 - I, Agnes Des Granges, do hereby bequeath to Dorothy Cucarelli and Evelyn Prince a kiddie car to take them to and from basketball games—said kiddie car to have a rumble seat attachment to carry all excess baggage.

- I, Shirley Smith, do hereby bequeath to Cousin Jane Gray my sunny disposition with the hope that she will make use of it.
- I, Rita Carey, bequeath to Betty McCann my unused can of apple polish, the directions for the application of which I lost immediately after purchase.
- I, Laura Tierney, do hereby bequeath my curly locks to any of the poor unfortunates with that perpetual line, "I can't do a thing with my hair!"
- I, James Russo, being of sound mind and body do hereby will and bequeath to whomever cares to take it, the thankless task of taking the other side in any argument.
 - I, Ruth Hazledine, bequeath my salty walk to "Salty" Saunders.
 - I, Mary Munson, will to my sister Eileen my ability to make haste slowly.
- I, Betty Fagan, do hereby bequeath to Mary Smith a pair of knitting needles and a ball of yarn that she may make profitable use of her leisure time on those daily trips back and forth from "way up yonder in the country."
- I, Frances Garvey, bequeath to anyone who may wish it the trouble of finding a parking space after nine o'clock on Tuesdays.
- I, Josephine Calabro, do hereby bequeath to my sister Elena the full realization of her hopes that she may now be called Miss Calabro with no distinction as to first names.
- I, Mary Munson, bequeath to John Hogan my share of the RICOLED cubby hole, with the hope that he will preserve all my attempts at interior decoration to enhance the beauty of said cubby hole.
- I, Barbara Blotcher, with no malice or forethought do will and bequeath to Eva Levine, Junior, my propensity for constantly accosting strange personages and humbly requesting the lease of school tickets.
- I, Michael Morry, do hereby will to Edmund Juszczyk my foggy moments in English Literature made obscure by the permeating indefiniteness of idealism and realism.

In witness whereof we have to this our last will and testament written on six pages and to each and every page thereof set our hand and hereunto set our seal this eighteenth day of April, in the year of Our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty-one.

CLASS BIOGRAPHY

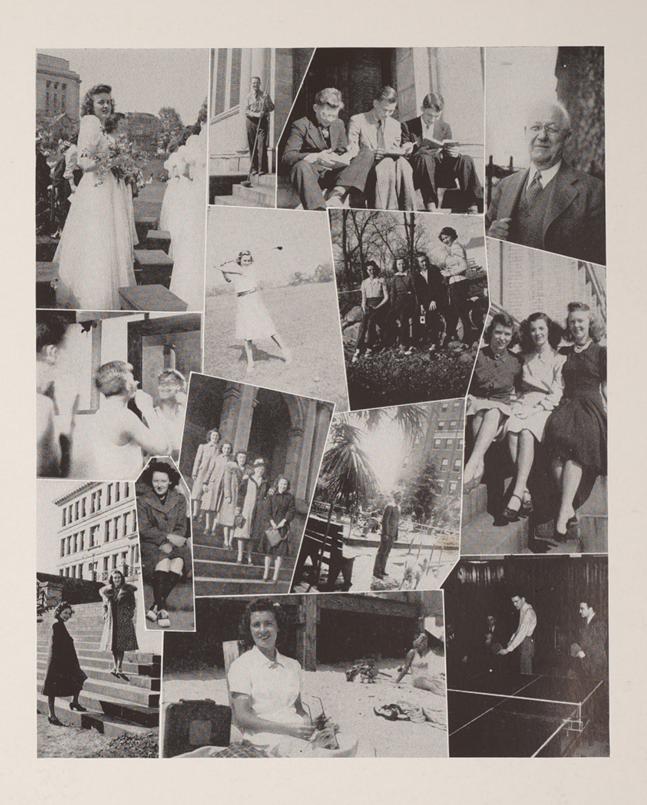

CLASS OF 1941

The only class ever to win the anchor, lose the anchor, and then regain the coveted symbol, the Class of 1941 showed its individuality in many ways. Active in organizations from the freshman year, this class gave leaders to all college activities. Placing second in Stunt Nite in the freshman year, the class of '41 gained first place in the junior year, and again second place in the senior year. Always active, always vociferous, always individual, the Senior Class made its mark at R. I. C. E. and will be long remembered.

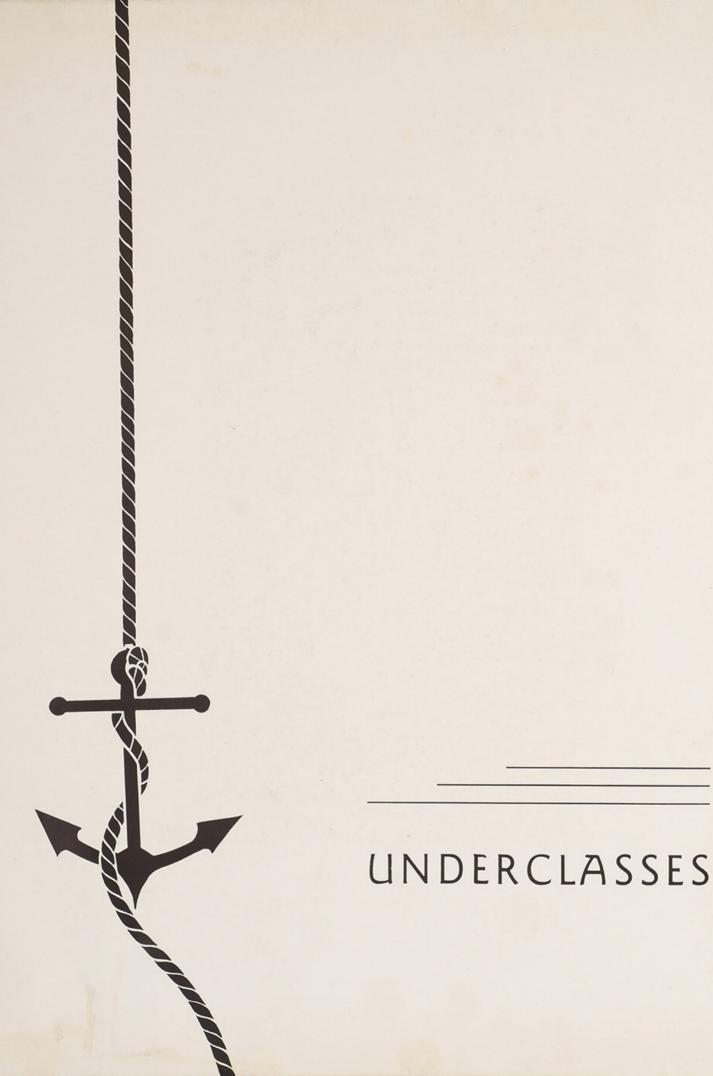

GUARDING THE PRIZE

ANCHOR CLASS

CLASS OF 1942

September found the Class of 1942 with new problems to face. First impressions gained from a classroom in action, their own first lessons, and the opportunity to wax eloquent before unsuspecting pupils were all part of a new role the Juniors were called upon to play in this unique college year. They proved equal to the task, became just a bit more serious in the process, but lost none of their leadership in college social activities. The Junior Prom was a success in every way. Class support of all activities was not limited despite the fact that members were separated into Training and Practice divisions in January.

CLASS OF 1943

Clever, lively, possessing an ambitious desire to succeed, the Sophomore Class has brought to a close an outstanding year of achievement. Active academically and in student affairs, the Class of '43 managed also to carry on an outstanding social program which included the strenuous Sophomore Week. Among the accomplishments of this Class must be reckoned the presentation of the winning Stunt Nite skit which satirized the Third Term. This Class is also to be credited with the winning of the inter-class athletic championship and the Women's Soccer championship.

CLASS OF 1944

The smallest class in recent years, the Freshmen nevertheless managed to make their presence known. They entered into extra-curricular activities wholeheartedly and gave many of their members to college teams. Elizabeth Murphy was in charge of the W. A. A. swimming. Barbara Shevlin and Marjorie Truesdale became members of the Pep Squad. Art Nelson, Herbert Frolander, and Ed Sullivan made the track team. Jim Smith showed great promise on the basketball team, while both he and Art Nelson joined the upperclassmen on the tennis squad. The Nature Club elected Jill Kinnell, secretary. In other college activities members of the class of 1944 showed promise of leadership in the future. Socially speaking, the Freshmen gave excellent support to all College dances and sponsored in their own right a party for their Junior "brothers and sisters" on Saint Patrick's Day. All upperclassmen, invited guests and party "crashers" alike, were treated with true Irish hospitality at this affair. There's no doubt that the class of '44 has found its place in college life.

NATURE CLUB

In co-operation with the state-wide campaign to preserve Rhode Island evergreens, the Nature Club succeeded in making the whole college conscious of this important conservation matter during the winter holiday season. This program was in addition to the usual Nature Club activities of campus beautification, seasonal decorating and social activities. Club officers were Katherine Lech, president; Jill Kinnell, vice president; Elizabeth Murphy, secretary; Ruth Morrissey, treasurer; Lois Murray, social committee chairman; and Mary Rooney, program committee chairman.

The big event of the past year for the Charles Carroll Club was the formal opening of the redecorated, newly furnished Carroll Hall. The new club room was made possible by the recent activities of the C. C. C. Co-sponsor of Stunt Nite, and sole sponsor of the well attended Carroll Club dance, the organization was able with the assistance of Dr. Whipple and several kind friends to establish itself in headquarters worthy of its large membership. The club officers were as follows: Leonard Mailloux, president; Henry Peterson, vice president; James Warren, secretary; Thomas Lowery, treasurer, and Frederic King, social committee chairman.

tors may now authoritatively control the staff from posts befitting their dignity; staff members continue to work with all the fervor and enthusiasm of the traditional reporter.

As a most interesting change the literary issue appeared this year in a pleasing new attire. Sketches both expressive and witty added charm to its pages and the name Helicon, borrowed from one of Thomas Gray's phrases, gave it the sanction of a literary master. The literary ambitions of the Sophomore class had a chance to be realized in their publication of the April issue. The editorial staff was as follows: Editor, Margaret Briggs, Assistant Editors, Eva Levine and Ann McDonald; News Editor, Margaret Holden; Exchange Editor, Elena Calabro; Columnist, Beatrice Schwartz; Circulation Manager, Virginia Crowell; Business Manager, Lucille Daigle; Feature Editor, Marion Fanning; Typist, Muriel Labrie.

ANCHOR

The College newspaper, a monthly publication, has through its fourteen years of existence added extensively to its democratic character and is one of the college's most representative student organizations. Its press activities have been carried on this year in an atmosphere more fittingly journalistic than before, and its quarters have acquired that unmistakable appearance of a city news room. Edi-

Seated: M. Holden, V. Crowell, and M. Fanning. Standing: M. Briggs, L. Daigle, B. Blotcher, and M. Castaldi.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Left to right: M. Russak, Secretary-treasurer; J. Russo, President; M. Castaldi, Social Committee; Professor Connor, Faculty Adviser; R. Carey, Vice President; E. Hunt, Program Committee; M. Morry, Foreign Policy Committee.

Heated discussions and eloquent filibustering comparable to any congressional session can be witnessed at a meeting of this group which has world problems as its subject. Group discussions and lectures by competent authorities are a part of its varied program. This year it embarked upon an enthusiastic Red Cross program; witnessed the beginning of regular weekly informal discussions among students; and entertained at tea several refugee children who in turn related their experiences. In addition to sending delegates from the College to periodic conferences, the club, as co-sponsor of Stunt Nite, is able to send representatives to the Wellesley Institute of International Relations.

DRAMATIC LEAGUE

As usual, the Dramatic League, most active of student organizations, sponsored a full and varied program the past year. In addition to a full debate schedule and the Poetry Reading Contest, the thespians found time to give the following productions; three one act plays, The Devil and Daniel Webster, The Valiant, The Neighbors; also Our Town, She Stoops to Conquer, and Cock Robin, senior play.

RICEMEN IN ACTION

PEP SQUAD

O ? our

TENNIS

Varsity tennis, coached by Mr. Nystrom, had a busy schedule this spring. Fine days found the boys at Oak Hill Tennis Club or at Roger Williams Park practicing to get just the right swing. In addition to participation in the New England Teachers' College Tournament, the team's schedule included two matches with New Britain and two matches with Bridgewater Teacher's College.

Mr. Nystrom and Manager Campbell

MEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Men's Athletic Association, consisting of representatives of all classes, is the administrative board for all athletic activities engaged in by the men of the College. Headed by James Sullivan, the group has carried on an extensive Activities included basketball. program. managed by William McKenna and Captain Daniel Kitchen, tennis with Frank Campbell as manager and Robert Byron as captain, and track. Their calendar closed with presentation of letters to deserving members of the track, basketball and tennis teams as well as to the members of the Pep Squad.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

In its extended program this year, the Women's Athletic Association has included soccer, basketball, softball, hiking, bowling, horse-back riding, swimming and golf. It has conducted a successful soccer supper, and as an innovation, its members had their May breakfasts in the healthfully appropriate Lincoln Woods. Week-end trips to numerous Youth Hostel Camps and active participation in a Play Day held at New Britain Teacher's College have been part of this organization's active program. Officers for this year have been Jane Place, president; Evelyn Prince, vice president; Marjorie Heath, secretary; Lois Murray, treasurer; and Margaret Dixon, social committee chairman.
