Niagara Falls to be shut off
summer 2001

by I.P. Freely

Major repairs to nearby hydro-electric facilities will necessitate shutting off Niagara Falls this summer, a power plant spokesman announced yesterday. Tom Jenkins of the New York State Electrical Company said that the deteriorating condition of the plant has left the company with no other choice.

"We've delayed effecting repairs long enough for fear of what turning off the Falls would do to the economy of the region," Said Jenkins at a press conference. "But our aging hydro-electric plant will soon become a public hazard if repairs to the structure and equipment are not carried out."

The Falls are slated to be shut off in early June for approximately six months. Andy Pepowski, of the Niagara Falls, Ontario Tourist Office said that "although the timing of the Falls' shutdown leaves much to be desired, it won't necessarily spell disaster for the region's tourism revenues."

"Obviously, this could be a major blow to the economy of the area. But there's still no reason for the Falls not to attract visitors. Although the Maid of the Mist won't be running and the view from the Skylon Tower Won't be as impressive, Niagara Falls still has much to offer such as the Movieland Museum of Stars and Luis Tussaud's Wax Museum," Pepowski said.

The possibility also remains of promoting the temporarily dried-up Falls as the continent's second largest crater after the Grand Canyon. All may not be lost for North America's Honey-moon Capital.

Board of Governors pulls a non-educational weed
campus decidedly magenta about the issue

by Homer Jay Simpson

After hours of deliberation the Board of Governors has made a decision that affects all of the higher education community. Looking for an explanation for the low test scores and falling GPA's across the campuses that they are responsible for, the BOG has pulled green from the color gamut of it's campuses. Green, which can be described as the color of grass and most leaves, or as the percentages of the colors cyan (99%), magenta (0%), yellow (100%) and black (0%). The reasons for the choice of green are as follows: most people [according to the BOG] don't like green, green is a tasteless color that promotes crime, speeding, greed, envy and a plethora of other socially unbecoming traits.

Not one of the BOG members would comment -- but we were able to simulate a conversation with the BOG: (RIC = a representative of Rhode Island College, BOG = member of the Board of Governors)

RIC: "Excuse us, but we have a question for the board."

BOG: "Are you a god?"

RIC: "Well, no..."

BOG: "Then, Die!"

(flames shoot forth from the BOG member's eyes -- killing the rep from RIC)

This is total apathy from the BOG, and unwillingness to answer repeated requests has caused us to wonder about the validity of their decision. When we went to ask Dr. John Nazarian's opinion of the matter, a curt man, dressed all in green, dealt us with rather rudely! He quickly told us that we did not have an appointment to meet the wizard, and slammed the door in our collective face. After quite some time -- he did let us in, because of Andrea Stewart's red shoes...

The conversation with Nazarian was a brief one. Naz explained that only senior administration could handle the power of green. On the pages of this issue you will see the effects of this decision on the campus, and some rather questionable photos of the new president's office.

This was the scene last night as the giant cat-monster attacked Gaige Hall. Whew. Glad we all survived that one.

After a plea with the administration, the male community of Rhode Island College is getting some of the latest Feinstein grant money applied to them - - In the form of a condom machine in the Student Union

Crossword Solution:

Starting April 1, all vegetarian entrees will be removed from RIC's Donovan dining center. The decision came as a result of a meeting between the Donovan Institutional Cafeteria Servers. The DICS were placed with a simple yet daunting task the Educational Board of Rhode Island: Introduce a new menu that would increase student productivity and trim away all the fat on campus. Needless to say the DICS quickly saw the vegetarian student body as their biggest problem. "We decided to get rid of them first because, next to the Art and Computer Science majors they are the weakest and most socially unstable on campus" said one of the DICS. Weak, defiantly, Socially Unstable, hardly. When asked about this stereotypical claim one vegetarian told us "Why it's a bloody outrage! I mean all of my friends are art majors (myself included) and we are not communists". Another reasons the DICS chose vegetarians as their first target is because of financial issues. For one they don't contribute to RIC's meat sales, which is by far RIC's biggest cash cow, and the food that they do eat doesn't cost that much to purchase or process to begin with. "I mean really, how hard is it to pull some weeds outta the ground anyway?" said one Donovan cafeteria worker. While this new education tactic may seem harsh, it just goes to prove the old saying:

You can't win friends with salad.

This coming Thursday Aliens from a far and distant planet will.....

It has been announced that a Starcraft class will be offered in the upcoming spring semester here at RIC. Professor Farnsworth, instructor of the class, sees it as a great opportunity to teach students about the military strategies our Terran forefathers and Protoss allies used in the Zerg alien wars of 2015, 2029, 2058 and 2097. Also The Anchor and WXIN do nothing but play the damn game anyway so we might as well get credit for it right?

A decision was made last Friday by the english faculty in charge of Crag Lee The decision states that starting May 2nd all spelling and grammar correcting tools an programs will be removed from the student compewtor labbs Apparently the decision has ben maid in a efort to bettur the learning pcess of the students by forcing them to use external methods (such as dictionaries thosouruses and libarys, etc.) to help them wit ther spelling and grammar woes as oposedd to haveinga compotor do i fro them. When asked for a comment on this decision the head of faculty at Crag Lee stated " If they [students] don't know how to spell at this level of their education! carrear then it means that the school systems below us have faild to do their job, and we [RIC] are not about to pick up their garbage". As eww can imagin, students that have alrady caught wind of this most haneous decision are enraged because this new plan will most likely cause students to seek out a second party to proof read and gramma check their papers, or failing that they might have to actually break down and do it themselves.

On April 11 Whipple Hall will be covered with Charmin brand toilet paper.

Due to complaints by residents in the student dorms to Ra's about noise, there will be no sexual activity allowed in dorm rooms or suites after 7pm. The ruling was handed down after an abundance of complaints were received made mainly by members of the Audio / Visual Club. When one resident was asked why they made a complaint he said "Well how am I supposed to hear a Marine equipped with Flak Cannon coming at me from my right satellite speaker if there is a loud thumping followed by strained moans coming from the same direction". However, because of requests made by the complaining residents, self-masturbation at any hour is still allowed.

How to Win Friends and Influence People

-Cora Chaos

Well kids, it's just a hair past mid-semester in my very first semester at RIC. I think I finally have everything figured out. Here's the definitive guide to winning friends and influencing people at RIC:

Throw your trash around. Everybody loves garbage. Trash you coffee cup on the quad, toss your cigarette butt, near but not in the designated receptacles. Bonus: Let your dog crap anywhere on campus, especially on sidewalks.

Complain about everything. Everyone loves a whiner. Park in the handicap zone. You are in a way bigger hurry than those differently-abled person. Talk like a gangster. Gotta keep it real, yo. Can't let anyone thinking your getting an education. Get mediocre grades in dumbed down courses. Over achievers are so boring. Have sex in any number of classrooms or offices. Share the love. Treat the staff like Hell. The are here to serve you. Make them work for their money. Be small minded. There really is an us and them. And those people just aren't like us. Never cross campus without your cell phone attached to your face. Can't risk having any unwanted contact with them. (see number 8) 10. Girls: Tight clothing and big hair are in. Boys: If your boxers aren't showing, you aren't cool. That sums it up. Follow my advice and you will be soooooooo popular. Trust me.

The Canchor is a farce. There are people that seem to think an issue that is called The Canchor, printed around the first of April would contain actual news. These people are sniveling idiots. No, really, we mean it. I don't care if this offends them, because they are intellectually below us anyhow. Neener Neener Neener - they are all wieners. But seriously - lets talk about some pets . . . I have a wompa ice creature. He's a nice guy, furry and cuddly - he can have a vicious bite though. If you feed him a farm-boy every once and a while it keeps him from going insane. There are a few things that he's not good for though: sheep sheering, curling, sleepovers and...sex Aren't you a noisy little bugger . . . I command you to stop reading this silliness now!

In Memoriam: Dan Blouin

Apparently, we have a correction to make. There was one person on campus who knew Dan Blouin. His name, was Scott Pacheco. (See? We told you to stay away from him! He had one friend... and he died! That's a sign for sure!) All the following information for the following reflection on Dan's short but long life was obtained from Mr. Pacheco.

Dan was a quiet kid for most of the time, and for the rest of the time he was quite loud. As a former high-school senior, he attended RIC as a freshman. He wasn't known for much on campus, except for his weekly attempt at a comic strip which was known as "Tales From Apex City." (Note: even in death he is still accepting donations for the Apex building, so... $$$) But let's not reflect too much on his life around the moment of his death. Let's look back at his childhood, and then what would've eventually happened to him had he not been horribly crushed by a descending robot & a plate of chicken a la king.

As a child, Dan had a tendency to get picked on a lot due to his charming personality & dashing good looks. But seriously folks... Dan lived in the small town of Warren with his parents, Richard & Karen. Because he knew that if he attended public school he'd get picked on a lot due to his charming personality & dashing good looks, he pleaded with his parents to be home-schooled. They politely declined and sent him to live & receive education with the local guru in town. The Guru taught the boy everything he knew, which was nothing. Then when his education was complete, he was sent out into the cold cruel working world to support himself. Not much was available for him at such a tender young age, so he went on to be a doctor. At the tender age of 10, he delivered 9,765 babies, performed 556 brain operations, and one enema, which may or may not have been on himself. When he turned 14, he knew that it was time to get a real job. But to do that, he would have to get an important piece of documentation: A high school diploma.

In high school, rose to the top of his class via airplane, and made a name for himself as "Most likely to graduate". And graduate he did. He graduated high school on a sunny day in June and proceeded to further his public school experience by going to Rhode Island College. Rumour has it, he planned to put on a couple of sing & dance spectaculars before his death, but that is a pleasure this campus will never know. We could all stand to look up to Dan for inspiration. Though we barely knew him, he was a shining light in our campus of fog. Dan, wherever you are, we'd like to say... we love you. We'd like to say that, but none of us ever met you, so we won't. Because truthfully, we can't say we loved you because we didn't know you. That's a pisser, for sure.

New game show Who Wants to Watch an Execution? to premiere on Fox TV this fall

by Mr. T

The producers of ABC's Who Wants to Be a Millionaire? are bracing themselves for some heavy duty competition from Who Wants to Watch an Execution? Set to air this September on the Fox network, the new game show will feature death row prisoners answering skill-testing questions with the outcome determining the severity of the method of their executions taking place before a studio audience. Fox intends to broadcast Who Wants to Watch an Execution? at the same time as Millionaire in an attempt to steal viewers from Regis' ratings-topping program.

Execution's executive producer, Melvin Silverstein, described his show at a press conference in Los Angeles earlier today. "Who Wants to Watch an Execution? will be the game show to kill 'em all!" he exclaimed. "It will have nail-biting tension by the ton and gore galore! So many death row inmates are just languishing while waiting to meet their maker. Well, playing Who Wants to Watch an Execution? will sure add some spice to what's left of their sorry lives."

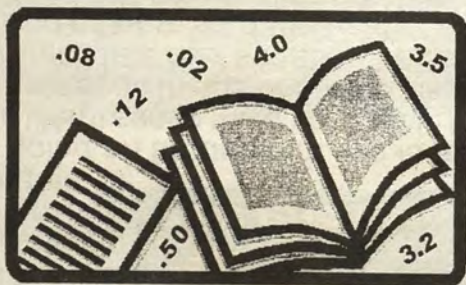

Under heavy guard, ten death row prisoners at a time will be brought onto the show's set. The inmate who takes the longest time to answer a question will then get the opportunity to play for the top prize which, instead of money, will take the form of the least painful method of execution: lethal injection. The skill-testing questions will become increasingly difficult and it's expected few prisoners will die a winner.

"We don't want them to win anyway because the sooner they get the wrong answer, the harsher the punishment," explained Silverstein. "Some prisoners will be thrown to the lions and others will be drawn and quartered. The good ol' fashioned guillotine will be there and so will a firing squad, which our host, Charlton Heston, is especially excited about. There will be something for everybody: hangings, the electric chair, the gas chamber. You name it, we'll have it! Every show will feature several executions and we'll make sure both the studio audience and the viewers at home come away happy. Expect all- rapist, all serial-killer, and all mass-murderer specials and I'm sure many death row prisoners will be thrilled to sit there, chained to their seat, and be questioned by Charlton Heston."

Not surprisingly, Who Wants to Watch an Execution? is already attracting controversy. Groups opposing the death penalty are said to be outraged at Fox's decision to air the show and will petition the network to cancel the program before its premiere. Regis Philbin is apparently disgusted at the premise of Millionaire's new rival but Silverstein remains unfazed. "Regis knows his show's going to be a goner in the ratings once we're up and running," he said. "Believe me, Who Wants to Watch an Execution? will give the expression 'final answer?' a whole new meaning!"

ATTENTION ALL RIC STUDENTS!!

The man shown above must be avoided at all costs. I CAN'T stress that enough. He is a dangerous, conniving, insidious young man. Sure, he looks peaceful enough, but behind that furrowed brow & those beady little eyes lurks the soul of a royal pain-in-the-ass. He will pick on you any chance he gets. For what, you may ask? Well, maybe you're very stupid, or you're fat, or you "use your turn signal when you drive", or you don't "clean off ALL of your car when it snows", or you "like to watch the show Daria" or you'd "like to ask Lisa Loeb to marry you" or you "don't always wear matching socks" or you "do your comic for the Anchor the day before it's due" or you "wear your pants low enough for everyone to see your ass-crack" or you "don't use periods when you type" or you "like Ally McBeal" or you "like tomatoes on sandwiches". As you can see, he likes to pick on every little thing you do, no matter how much of a pleasant human being you try to be. It doesn't matter what it is, he always has to suck the life out of every bit of fun you & your friends have. As soon as he enters the room, everyone's all: Oh geez, Scott's here... Yeah, that's his name- Scott "I Suck sour frog ass" Pacheco. "I'm too good to talk to you like an equal! I have a leather jacket that was supposed to be for my MOM.. mleh mleh mleh mleh... I'm Scott Pacheco, and i'm the biggest idiot in the whole world! I can't even spell my own name! Mleh!" Yeah.. he spelled his own name wrong once. He spelled it "Pacheoc". What an idiot, am I wright? Seriously, what kind of moran can't spell his own name? Phh. Anyway, avoid him. Not only is he stupid & mean, but he smells like something crawled out of Louie Anderson's bellybutton and died. I mean, that's one nasty critter. Am I wrong? When he drives, he's all over the road, and I don't think he washes behind his ears. I have sources looking in on that one, though. And... if all that wasn't enough.. he's a comic geek. I hear he buys 9 monthly comics on a regular basis. That's more planets than Galactus eats after a nice long chase after the Silver Surfer through the Negative Zone, Am I right? Long story longer, stay away from this schmuck. There are a lot of other cats you can waste your time with on campus. Like that Dan Blouin character.. I hear he's a real ladies' man.

views on life. This brings me to his next (and probably most serious) flaw, the boy is also a leech, a mooch, freeloader, beggar and chooser extrodinare. It starts out with small favors, a ride here and buck there, but before you know it your driving 38 miles in the freezing rain to change a tire on his car because the jackass can't even find the spare in his car, and even if he could, he wouldn't know how to change it anyway. There is only one way to escape his mind numbing friendship, do the favors for him, sure they may seem like a pain at first but after a while what he is unable to realize is that someday the favors must be paid back. How do I know all this you might ask? because nine years ago I myself fell into the same trap. Only now my time for payback has finally arrived. After nine long years of favors and dollars I can finally begin to taste and smell the unfathomable power which I will soon poses over him. MWA HAHA HA HA HA HA HAAAAA!!!!!! Oh and one more thing, the boy is slower than molasses going up an Alaskan hill in January.

Warning! Avoid this man at all costs. Sure his pleasant attitude and portly physique may seem inviting, but don't be fooled. This man is a moron, and idiot, fool, dumb as a brick, and care-less. His driving skill will frighten you and his un-human lack of common sense will infuriate you. Hanging around with this person is like watching a mime, at first it seems amusing but then after a while you wonder what the hell is wrong with him and you want to kick him in the junk for being so stupid. This man is from another planet, nay, universe, and like any run of the mill alien, he no concept of how the real world works and doesn't seem eager to learn. He lives in a idealistic dreamworld which makes him think he is invulnerable to what is really going on around him. He is also blind, not in the literal sense mind you, but in the sense that he only sees things one way, his, so when he gets stuck in a bad situation he can't handle himself and must rely on the help of others who's vision is not so clouded by childish

Biggie Smalls found in an Ancient Cave in Turkey!

By: Former Dead rapper, Adam Babbitt

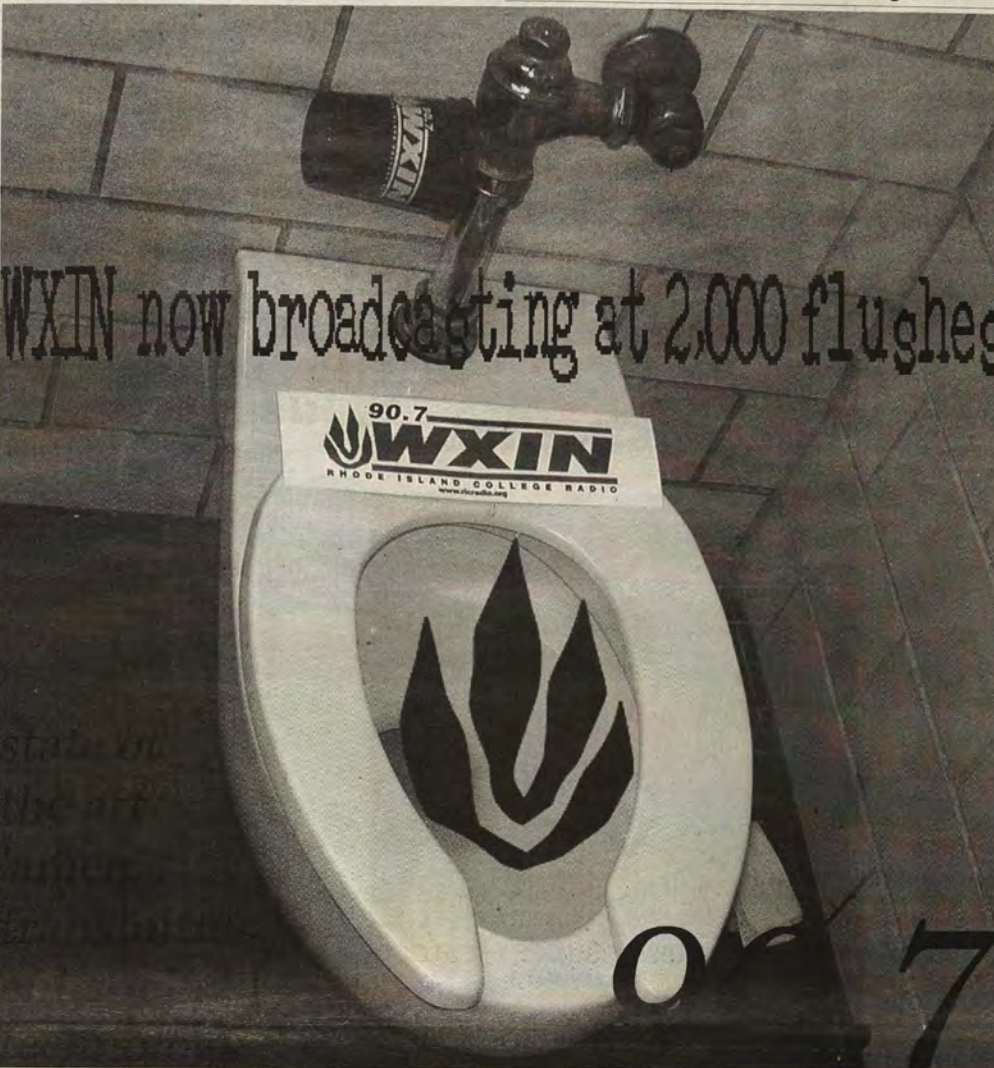

Did you hear about the séance that they had for former rapper, Biggie Smalls. Yeah, they had a séance for him. It was done by Cleo, the psychic Tarot card reader on late night T.V. She's on T.V. all over the country; in Muncie, IN, Providence, R.I., and Detroit, MI. Countless people are calling up, only to be told out that their boyfriends are scrubs and they should cheat on them. She's even on T.V. overseas.

In Budapest, Hungary, harems all over the place are running up sky high phone bills on the 'off-days', spending countless rupies or whatever kind of currency they use over there, funding Miss Cleo's fourteenth Lexus. But at least they're, as Miss Cleo says, "keepin' it real." But did you know that Miss Cleo has more money than all of Scandinavia ever had, even if you count the days of the Vikings, where they would sail all over the sea taking peoples' stuff wherever they went?

Yeah, she's the fourth richest person in North America. Yeah, she has more money than DMX has ho's. Or if you can relate to this analogy, she has more money than Missy 'Misdemeanor' Elliot has a big ass. Or how about this one, Miss Cleo has more money than Bill Gates after he hit the 'powerball'. Or wait, what about this one, she has more cash than the total amount of Wayans brother that aren't funny. Speaking of not being funny...

Anyways, last week in New Orleans, Louisiana, the only city that I'm aware of where you can go into a random church and have a nun flash you, Miss Cleo performed a séance for supposedly defunct rapper, Biggie Smalls. So when they all sat down and joined hands (It was Miss Cleo, Marilyn Manson, former celebrity even though she's kind of funny looking, Chelsea Clinton, the Indian from The Village People, and Tupac, or 'The artist formerly know as Tupac' [pronounced TWO PACK]), the sky turned black. The wind glistened, the moon turnt mint green, a hole in the clouds above them opened up, and they all heard: "DOO DOOO DOOOOT... THE NUMBER YOU HAVE REACHED..."

Cuz' he's not only a client, he's the (supposedly) dead rapper president. And I still think he's dead.

Craig-Lee Gone!

Is that bulge Craig-Lee, or is she just a happy camper?

by Clifford the big red dog Crazy Guy Who Thinks He's Fat

Students who arrived to school last Monday had the shock of their lives. When the students of our beautiful school were on their merry way to class, they all stopped and stared. What were they staring at? The hole that WAS Craig-Lee. Something between Friday, March 30th and Monday April 2nd, authorities say that the building was stolen. Apparently the building was ripped from its foundation and carried away to an unknown destination. No suspects are being named at this time but The Anchor may have a lead. An anonymous photo was left at The Anchor office over the weekend. It as placed underneath the door and was discovered Monday morning by our fearless leader, Bill O. Rights IV. The photo, seen on this page, shows a female apparently posing outside of the now missing building. The photo was shown to campus police and they now believe that the female may be carrying the building somewhere on her body.

Campus police has declared an all out search for this female, asking students everywhere to keep a look out for the woman people are calling Jane Dick. We at The Anchor are desperately asking the students of this campus to help find this girl for further questioning. Some of us are supposed to be watching The Matrix next week in CL666 so the quicker we get help, the better. If you or anyone you know has seen Jane Dick, please call The Anchor immediately at 1-800-Call-Att or e-mail one of our editors at Mierda@feliznavidad.com. Again, this woman should be considered packed and extremely dangerous. Please take a close look and if you see her anywhere, be careful not to poke your eyes out and run to your nearest phone or computer.

9. Only in America... do we use the word "politics" to describe the process so well: "Poli" in Latin meaning "many" and "tics" meaning "blood-sucking creatures."
10. Only in America...do they have drive-up ATM machines with Braille lettering.

In case you needed further proof that the human race is doomed through stupidity, here are some actual labels.

Instructions on consumer goods:

1. On a Sears hairdryer: "Do not use while sleeping". [Gee, that's the only time I have to work on my hair]
2. On a bag of Fritos: "You could be winner! No purchase necessary. Details inside". [Evidently, the shoplifter special]
3. On a bar of Dial soap: "Directions: Use like regular soap." [And that would be how...?]
4. On some Swanson frozen dinners: "Serving suggestions: Defrost." [But it's just a suggestion]
5. On Tesco's Tiramisu dessert (printed on bottom of box): "Do not turn upside down". [Oops, too late]
6. On Marks. & Spencer Bread Pudding: "Product will be hot after heating". [As sure as night follows the day...]
7. On packaging for a Rowenta iron: "Do not iron clothes on body". [But wouldn't this save even more time?]
8. On Boot's Children's Cough Medicine: "Do not drive a car or operate machinery after taking this medication". [We could do a lot to reduce the rate of construction accidents if we could just get those 5-year-olds with head colds off those forklifts.]
9. On Nytol Sleep Aid: "Warning: May cause drowsiness"[One would hope]
10. On most brands of Christmas lights: "For indoor or outdoor use only". [As opposed to what?]
11. On a Japanese food processor: "Not to be used for the other use". [I gotta admit, I'm curious].
12. On Sainsbury's peanuts: "Warning: Contains nuts". [NEWS FLASH]
13. On an American Airlines packet of nuts: "Instructions: open packet, eat nuts." [Step 3: Fly Delta]
14. On a child's Superman costume: Wearing of this garment does not enable you to fly". [I don't blame the company. I do blame parents for this one!]

THIS LOOKS LIKE AN AERIAL PICTURE OF WHAT APPEARS TO BE GAIGE HALL, JUDGING FROM THE WRITING ON THE WALL.

HERE IS A LOVELY PANORAMIC VIEW OF THE CAMPUS AS SEEN FROM THE VIEWPOINT OF THE TENNIS COURTS

WOAH! LOOKS LIKE ONE OF DONOVAN'S SPECIAL SAUCE LABS HAD A LITTLE ACCIDENT.

AS YOU CAN SEE THE REMODELLING HAS LEFT CRAIG LEE WITH A WONDERFUL VIEW OVERLOOKING THE QUAD.

FELLOW RIC STUDENTS, AS YOU MAY HAVE HEARD, THE DEPARTMENT STORE APEX HAS GONE OUT OF BUSINESS. AS THE AUTHOR OF THE SERIAL (TALES FROM APEX CITY), I INTEND TO TURN THE APEX BUILDING INTO A STUDIO & CLUBHOUSE FOR MYSELF AND ALL THOSE WHO HAVE ENDEARED THEMSELVES TO MY HEART.

A DAUNTING TASK, I KNOW. BUT, EVERY BIT HELPS. AND YOU CAN HELP TOO, AND EARN YOURSELF A SPOT IN MY NEW PAWTUCKET QUARTERS AT THE SAME TIME! HOW, YOU MAY ASK? WELL, MY FRIEND, IT IS AS EASY AS CAKE. JUST SEND IS TO ME, DAN B. AT THE ANCHOR OFFICE WHICH CAN BE FOUND AT THE TOP FLOOR OF THE STUDENT UNION.

I CANNOT BUY THE BUILDING MYSELF, FOLKS. MAKE SURE YOU PUT THE DOLLAR IN AN ENVELOPE THAT HAS YOUR NAME ON IT, SO I KNOW TO LET YOU IN WHEN YOU ARRIVE AT MY WONDERFUL NEW STUDIO.

AS I TAKE MY LEAVE, I WOULD LIKE TO THANK YOU ALL FOR YOUR MONEY . . . I MEAN . . . SUPPORT.

Dan died yesterday. Our witness had just heard a loud jet engine pass over head, then a scream, and then saw Dan crushed to death by a large non-functional robot with what appears to be Chicken a La King in its human(?) bowels. No one knew Dan, or ever saw him around, so... hey, we all gotta go sometime, right?

WORLD WIDE NEWS

G-World

the world of Goya

After years of collecting dust in the international aisle, the Goya Company is branching off from the food industry. While the exotic food products will still be available, eager consumers will also be introduced to a more versatile Goya.

The company approached Abel Damien Hernandez, the first and only Goya editor in the history of the Canchor, and Tony Rodrigues -- the only layout editor insane enough to actually implement the ideas given to us by Goya.
