With a few choice words

Music, music, music for R.I. Heritage Week

Special to The Christian Science Monitor

Providence, R.I.

"Words and Music"—a tribute to the literary and musical heritage of Rhode Island—will mark the 10th Anniversary of Heritage Week May 1 through 9.

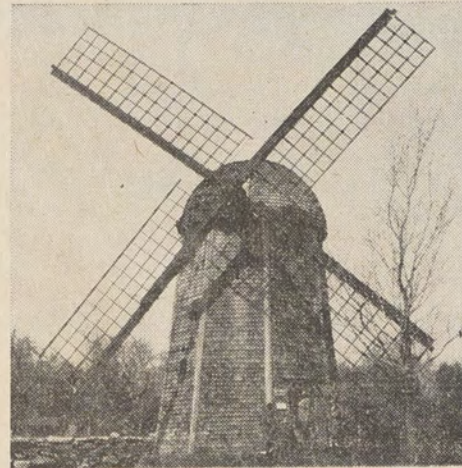

Scheduled activities include visits to points of interest including an exhibit of sheet music and antique musical instruments at the Newport Historical Society and a display of early records at the Art Association.

Highlights of the week-long celebration will include a band concert by the Newport Naval Base Band May 7 in tribute to Charles Zimmerman, Newport-born author of the Navy's song, "Anchors Aweigh." Music of Providence-born George M. Cohan will also be featured.

Concerts scheduled

On May 2, Pembroke College will present harpsichord works of J. S. Bach. At the University of Rhode Island there will be a dance concert and a lecture-recital, "Classic-Romantic Dualism in 18th and 19th Century Piano Music" on May 9.

Plays and patriotic ceremonies will be the order of the week: a coin festival at the Hotel Viking, Newport; Community Night Musical at Block Island; International Ball in Providence, and "Art U.S.A." at the Art Club and Museum; moon and corn planting ceremony in Ashaway; apple-blossom festivals and a "Heritage Mystery Ride," an 80-mile tour of historic and scenic interest.

Original letters of the state's founder Roger Williams, and an original edition of the famous "A Key Into the Language of America," published in 1643, will be seen at the Rhode Island Historical Society Library.

Services planned

On May 2 at 4 p.m. a "Forefathers' Service" will be held at the First Baptist Church in America. The 18th-century meeting-house service will include psalm singing without instrumental accompaniment.

On May 3 and 4, windows of University Hall, Brown University, (designated a National Historic Landmark in 1963) will be illuminated with candles. This was first done in 1790 in honor of President Washington, who came to accept an honorary degree. Built in 1770, it is the oldest building of the nation's seventh-oldest college.

A complete listing of places and events is available at the Rhode Island Heritage Week Committee's offices, Room 207, Roger Williams Building, Providence 8, R.I.

THE INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE is planning to hold its annual ball on May 7 in the ballroom of the Sheraton-Biltmore. Preceding the event which will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., a buffet supper will take place from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Providence Art Club.

In preparation for the event a meeting for members and their guests will be held April 8 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the headquarters of the organization on Princeton Avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. Maurice V. Mancini and Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Mihallides will be hosts and hostesses.
