Rhode Island College Participating In Festival

The eighth annual Rhode Island Arts Festival will open May 22 on Kennedy Plaza, downtown Providence. An open competition of paintings, sculpture, prints and drawings, the Festival will remain open each day until June 5.

Juror for this year's festival is William C. Seitz, formerly of the Museum of Modern Art in New York City, and now director of the Rose Art Museum at Brandeis University, Mass. Mr. Seitz received his M.F.A. and Ph.D. from Princeton where he also taught from 1952 to 1960. He is responsible for a great many excellent exhibitions both at Brandeis and at the Modern. At the later he organized "Claude Monet: Seasons and Moments," and in 1961 "The Art of Assemblage," and in 1965 the famous gathering of op art under the title "The Responsive Eye." In Catalogues accompanying the shows, Mr. Seitz has written extensively on Matk Tobey, Arshile Gorky and Hans Hoffman.

Of approximately 1,400 works submitted by artists as far away as Illinois, Michigan and California, 180 were selected for viewing under the festival tents. Four $500 prizes will be awarded to two groups of paintings and two of sculpture. These will be announced on the opening day, May 22.

In addition to the fine arts competition, the performing arts aspect of this year's festival has been greatly expanded to include two live theatrical productions, Brown University Production Workshop's The Automobile Graveyard on May 25 and 26, and Rhode Island College's avant garde one-act The Hundred and First directed by Roger Klaiber. Folk music, dances, jazz by the Rhode Island Jazz Society and the Grand Opening on May 22 featuring the Rhode Island Philharmonic under the guest conductorship of Eric Kunzel will round out the programs for the two week duration.

On May 27, 28, 29 the Second Rhode Island Film Festival will feature a series of experimental films to be shown in the Rhode Island School of Design Auditorium at 7 p.m. Films by Vanderbeek, Abbot Meader, Walter Bunschuh and Andy Warhol will be included. John Benson director of the Film Festival announced that more than 60 films will be screened over the three day period; a total of $500 in prizes will be given to the three best entries.

The Administration Announces Solution To Dormitory Situation

Having received a letter from a dormitory student and having also received many complaints from students regarding the situation the Anchor investigated the problem of dormitory accommodations.

In an interview this week with President Gaige it was learned that as a result of working on the problem over the weekend the college has arrived at a decision concerning on-campus living.

The President said that due to the college's re-evaluation, no student in an undergraduate status will have to leave their dormitory accommodations for the coming school year.

Dr. Gaige said that those students entering in September as freshmen will be advised that their acceptance for dormitory space is not necessarily guaranteed more than one year.

Last Friday as many students marched in protest to see the President and endeavor to solve the problem the Anchor noted some of the President's remarks concerning the situation. Dr. Gaige said that, "if we had done what we should have done in September this situation would never have developed". This statement was made in reference to the college's failure to notify incoming students that they were not necessarily guaranteed indefinite dormitory accommodations.

Dr. Gaige assumed full responsibility for the situation which developed and termed the problem a "tempest in a teapot". In referring to this incident the President told the assembled protestors, "We don't want to hurt you people, we DORMITORY Page 4

Annual Awards Day Scheduled for May 19

On Thursday, May 19, the annual Awards Day will be held at which time numerous awards will be given for contributions to the many different facets of college life.

In the realm of theatre, two awards will be given. Both will be presented by Edward Ford, representing Alpha Psi Omega. The Alpha Psi Omega award will be presented to "... the person who has contributed most to the cause of theatre on the college campus", and the Michael A. Rinalli, Jr. Memorial Award will be given to "... the person who has accumulated the most work points in Rhode Island College Theatre".

Norman Langevin will present the Four Year Debate Achievement for the Debate Society to honor those who have participated in "... four years of intercollegiate debating".

The Zeta Chi Sportsmanship Award, which "... recognizes a person who demonstrates true sportsmanship on and off the field, one who has contributed significantly to the team effort, but who has not received recognition in proportion to his contribution", will be presented by Robert Badway, representing Zeta Chi.

The Sigma Mu Delta will be given to an undergraduate girl student in the form of a scholarship awarded on the basis of scholarship, ability and need.

Sports Illustrated Magazine will present a Fencing Trophy to Miss Judy Grinnell, a Rhode Island College sophomore who won the New England Women's Intercollegiate Fencing Tournaments.

Dean Mierzwa will present the Who's Who of College Students in American Colleges and Universities Award to Miss Patricia Buckley, Miss Pamela Tencher and Miss Mary McLaren.

The Delta Gamma Award will be given "... to a senior woman in teacher education who did superior work in teaching, is outstanding in leadership, contributes to the college, and exemplifies other outstanding senior women. She must be in the upper quartile of the class".

The Student Personnel Department will present Recognition Certificates for the Student Counselors. Cyril Romans, a member of the Freshman Class, will present these certificates to graduating seniors who have served as Student Counselors.

RIC Senior Receives URI Assistantship

Lewis J. Bellas, a senior at Rhode Island College, has been awarded a graduate assistantship in geography at the University of Rhode Island for the academic year 1966-67.

A history major, he will receive his bachelor's degree next month. A member of the Eastern Orthodox Club for four years, Mr. Bellas has served as a president of the organization in his junior year and is presently the vice-president of the club. He is also a member of the college's Christian Association and has taken part in intramural football and basketball.

make the voting age eighteen

We shall not use the most worn argument for the right to vote that if a person is old enough to die for his country in war, then he old enough to vote. Our reasons, we feel, make more sense and reinforce our opinion that indeed the voting age should be eighteen and not twenty-one as it is at present in most of the nation's states.

The Baby Hoover Commission has recommended that the voting age be eighteen; this demonstrating the federal government's support for such a change in voting laws.

There are many who argue that a person is not responsible enough at eighteen to be allowed to vote for the nation's leaders; we retort a person will never know the meaning of the word responsibility until he is given some to assume.

Further, there are many middle-aged Americans who not only have no conception of the political machinery of their nation but who also display total apathy on each election day.

To those who say many rowdy people in the teenage bracket would exercise irresponsibility in the voting machine, we say that the rowdies would not bother to show up on election day for they would be too busy carrying on their wars of vandalism and thievery to have enough interest in their voting rights.

We believe that a total re-assessment of the voting laws in our state and in the entire nation is long overdue and urge all college students to write their congressmen in an effort to effect change.

invisible iron curtain?

We in America pride ourselves and our land on the freedoms granted us and often take these so much for granted that we don't even realize when the very existence of these freedoms is threatened. The case at hand is the right to travel anywhere in the world — a right which until the present time seemed to have acquired an aura of "inalienability". However, a proposal is presently being studied by the United States Senate which would restrict certain elements of our population (as yet left unnamed) from traveling outside of the United States, prohibit those members of our population who are allowed to leave the country from demonstrating against American foreign policy in any other country, and leave to the discretion of the State Department the decision as to who would be awarded passports.

It would appear that there is "something very rotten in Denmark" when the government of a supposedly free, democratic nation feels that it is necessary to drop an invisible iron curtain around its shores. Is this just the beginning of the formation of a totalitarian state? Is it possible that shortly no one will be allowed to leave the country who has in any way, shape or form disagreed with the government?

Preposterous as this proposal currently under consideration by our leaders may sound, the fact remains that it has been presented, and our freedoms have been challenged. The question is, what recourse do we have? If we choose to speak out, will they then decide to curtail our freedom of speech?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As a student at this college, I feel a certain amount of "native" pride for the institution and organizations associated therewith. I also feel that it is commendable for an organization to try to increase its influence — assuming it does so LEGITIMATELY — by incorporating means that appear to be successful among other institutions similar to itself.

However, I do feel that an emphasis on "Sensationalism" in headlining is quite out of place in our college newspaper. This is the type of gimmick one sees in such prominent newspapers as the National Inquirer and others of the same calibre. I am referring to the disgusting press treatment given the unfortunate mishap at the college mixer held on campus on May 6. Referring to this, the headline — printed, strangely enough, in extraordinarily large letters — seemed to place the emphasis for the trouble at the dance of the fraternity which sponsored the affair!! Now I ask you, what could be more absurd? ! ?

In several issues of the Anchor now, I have witnessed an attack by the Anchor upon the Greek Letter organizations on campus. In trying to evaluate the situation as presented by the Anchor, I was undecided as to what role the fraternal organizations actually did play on campus and whether or not they were, in fact, living up to the goals they present. The only criteria I had to judge was what I read in our illustrious newspaper. I have made up my mind that any paper which will capitalize on an unfortunate incident such as the one mentioned earlier, and deliberately misuse the facts in an effort to slur the fraternity sponsoring the dance is NO FIT PAPER TO PUT FAITH IN. We need only examine the attempt to correlate the prospect that dances on campus may be curtailed or suspended in the future and the fact that it was a fraternity that organized that very dance (and is subsequently the villain) to see the extent to which the Anchor will stoop in its groundless vendetta against fraternities in general and, apparently, Kappa Delta Phi in particular.

Editors, I dare say that it will be a long, long time before you regain any respect for the Anchor by either myself or innumerable other students and faculty.

Most sincerely yours,
Fred Rabs

P.S. "They have taken all the rope they needed, and they have hanged themselves."

Dear Editor:

The residents at Mary Thorp and Weber dormitories have been recently informed that due to lack of rooms and an increase in freshmen enrollment next year some sophomores and juniors living within a fifteen mile radius of the campus will not be able to live in the dormitories. The administration will do these students the favor of providing off campus housing if desired although the students will have to pay any difference in cost.

Present dormitory residents strongly question this decision, asking why incoming freshmen should have dorm rooms instead of already established sophomores and juniors. The administration replied that the freshmen have paid room deposits as early as February, thereby having preference over present dormies who have only recently been asked for room deposits. This is a feeble excuse. If residents had known the circumstances in February they would have gladly paid their deposits earlier, and one doubts the sincerity of the administration when they reply that the problem has only recently arisen. The policies of many other colleges have had to be adjusted to similar problems but with at least a semblance of justice. Dorm residents will not put up with any more excuses such as the necessity of giving freshmen their "group living experience," or the ability of upperclassmen to adjust to off campus living more maturely than incoming freshmen, or being directed to the very fine print in handbooks giving the administration authority to kick out dormies with one month's notice.

The ideal solution to this problem is a new dormitory, but this is not possible this year. Therefore, I propose that the administration, in all fairness, reverse their decision and allow the present residents to remain next year. If they hesitate out of fear of loss of face (or loss of freshmen out-of-state tuition), they will lose the respect of the student body.

Respectfully submitted,
Elizabeth Luke '67

TEACHER CORPS TRAINING TO BE OFFERED

Rhode Island College is establishing a two-year training program as part of the National Teacher Corps. The two-year program, which will lead to a master's degree, will begin with an eight-week session in the summer of 1966 and will continue through the college years of 1966-7 and 1967-8. Candidates for the program must apply to the National Office by May 30 but candidates may be selected earlier so the earliest possible application is desirable. Candidates must be college graduates but preparation in the field of education is not necessary.

This is one of forty-one programs being established throughout the country. Applicants may designate a preferred location or go where they are assigned. Details on the entire program may be obtained from the Placement Office or from Dr. John Lindia, Director of the Rhode Island College Teacher Corps Project.

PRESENT AND FORMER MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF 1966

All Rhode Island College students who are now or formerly were members of the class of 1966 are asked to assist the Curriculum Committee in its evaluation of the current curriculum on Wednesday, May 18 at 3 P.M. in Horace Mann Auditorium.

It is important that we sample the opinions of all members of the class. If your name is listed on the Senior Bulletin Board in the Student Center you are expected to attend. Please pick up an IBM attendance card in your mail box prior to the session on Wednesday, May 18 at 3 P.M.

Five R. I. Educators Honored At Alumni Awards Dinner

The selection of five Rhode Island educators, whose responsibilities range from kindergarten to graduate school, as recipients of 1966 Alumni Awards of Rhode Island College was announced today.

The five will be honored by RIC's Alumni Association on Alumni Night, Saturday, May 14, at the Donovan Dining Center. They are:

- Dr. Ruth FitzSimons, director of speech in the Warwick public schools;
- Dr. Barnaby C. Keeney, president of Brown University;
- Miss Ethel M. Murphy, principal of the Oaklawn Elementary School, Cranston;
- Miss Marion Wright, chairman of the department of social sciences at RIC;
- Miss Mary G. Davey, director of public relations and alumni affairs at RIC.

After a hospitality hour at 6:30 p.m. dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. Donald Driscoll, assistant principal of Hope High School and former president of the alumni association, will be toastmaster for the dinner, with greetings to be given by President William C. Gaige of Rhode Island College and Mrs. Elena C. Leonelli, president of the alumni association.

Dr. Mary T. Thorp, Distinguished Professor of Education at RIC, and alumni awards chairman, will present the awards.

The John Fitzgerald Kennedy Award, presented annually to an outstanding citizen who has made an outstanding contribution to the state and nation, will be conferred on Dr. Keeney. During the 11 years of his presidency of Brown, the value of both the university's endowment and its physical plant have doubled, its operating budget trebled, and its national stature increased.

The alumni award for distinguished service in a career will be presented to Dr. FitzSimons, a Warwick resident. A 1940 graduate of RIC, she received her doctorate from Boston University, graduating with distinction. She is co-author of a 500-page text, "Stuttering and Personality Dynamics," used by 75 universities in this country and in six other countries, and has participated in writing of a number of other works on speech and language learning.

Miss Murphy, a North Providence resident, will receive the Alumnus of the Year Award. She received a diploma from RIC in 1924, a bachelor's degree in 1935, and in 1954, a master's degree from the University of Rhode Island.

After 22½ years as a teacher in Johnston, Miss Murphy was teaching principal in Cranston 7½ years and has been a supervising principal for the past 12 years. Among her numerous alumni association activities has been her service as alumni treasurer for the past four years.

The alumni award for unique service to the college will be conferred on Miss Wright. A 1944 graduate of RIC, she has served on the college's faculty since 1946, and is currently chairman of the department of social sciences, and professor of geography and social sciences.

Miss Davey will be given the alumni award for distinguished service. A 1941 graduate of RIC, Miss Davey earned a master's degree in 1951.

From 1941 through 1945 Miss Davey taught in Warwick schools, and from 1945 through 1954 in the Providence schools. She has been a member of the RIC administration since 1954, as director of public relations and alumni secretary.

Dancing will follow the presentation of awards.

Chalktones Concert Tonight

The Chalktones of Rhode Island College will this year have alumni members joining them for their Annual Spring Concert in the auditorium of Roberts Hall on May 18, 8:30 p.m.

These coeds who have joined to sing together for pleasure give pleasure to many. Their cheerful red blazers and bright voices enhance many programs held at the college. They are directed by Miss Rita V. Bicho of the Rhode Island College Music Department.

The concert is open to the public without charge.

Sophomores Ring Payments

A representative from Dieges and Clust will be on campus Thursday May 26 for any students who wishes to make ring payments.

Call For An Examination Of Conscience

Ed. note: The following article is reprinted with the permission of the Students for Democratic Society and is not to be interpreted as representative of The Anchor's stand on the issue.

Our government has decided it needs more soldiers for this "small" war in Viet-Nam; Congress has authorized the sending of an additional 400,000 men. It has decided it can no longer defer all students, and has begun to draft them off the campus.

But our very influential businessmen have personnel needs too, just like our generals. Our businessmen need that steady stream of young administrators and managers and technicians and scientists that the multiversity has promised to keep on supplying.

So between the old men who run industry and the old men who run the military, there's a friendly tug-of-war. We male students are the prize.

But business and the military have decided to be fair to each other about sharing us. Some of us are not so bright, or perhaps they have been lazy scholars. Businessmen don't need them. They can go be soldiers. The bookish among us can stay home and enjoy the full employment boom that the war has created.

To divide us up the government has decided to hold an examination May 14, May 21, and June 3. All of us are invited to take part in this Beat-The-Draft exam.

AND THE MILLIONS OF US WHO TAKE THE EXAM WILL DO SO FOR ONE AND ONLY ONE REASON . . . TO STAY OUT OF VIETNAM WAR.

Those who pass will have their CONSCIENCE Page 4

RIC Track Team Places Favorably At Championship Track Meet

Last week found the RIC trackmen competing in two conference championship meets against very tough opposition and finishing high among the scorers in both meets. The first meet was the Southern New England Coastal Conference Track Championships on Wednesday at Bridgewater, Mass. Nichols College of Dudley, Mass. placed first with 55½ points as they displayed too much depth and overall strength for the rest of the field. The Anchormen placed second with 31 points followed by Bryant (29½), Bentley (9), Bridgewater (8), and Southern Massachusetts Technical Institute (7).

The RIC forces were lead by Fred Bayha who won the 100 and 220-yard dashes, placed second in the high jump and third in the broad jump. Other point-scorers for the Anchormen were Bob Bushell (220 and 100-yard dash), Ray Marsland (440 and 880-yard dash), Ray Nelson (1 and 2 mile), Sendling (discuss and shot put) and the mile relay team.

On Saturday Rhode Island College hosted the NESCAC Track Championships at Conley Memorial Stadium (City Stadium). Boston State College the defending champion easily retained its title as they scored in all but one event and collected 67 points. Fitchburg State, which previously lost to RIC this season, was the runnerup with 33 points followed by RIC (23), Lyndon State, Vt. (16), Castleton State, Vt. (3).

Five new meet records were established, four by Boston State athletes. The Bay Staters record breakers were Gary Olsen (pole vault 12'6"), Brian Jones (120 high hurdles 15.5 seconds), Frank McCarthy (880 yard dash 1:59 seconds), and the mile relay team in 3:30.7 minutes. The other meet record was set by Pete Davies of Gorham in the high jump at 6'¼".

Awards Day

F. B. Correia, will present the Math Club Award to the first prize winner of the annual Math Contest, which is sponsored by the Math Club.

The Rhode Island College Aning the most anchor points for the chor, presented to the class receiver, will be presented by Cynthia DiSano, Chairman of the Anchor Point Committee, to the President of the winning class.

Kappa Delta Phi will present the Robert T. Ames Awards to a senior man and a senior woman in recognition of previously unrecognized service and dedication to the College.

The Hetherman Trophy will be awarded to a senior man chosen on the basis of participation in athletics, extra-curricular activities and scholastic achievement.

The Anchormen were paced by Fred Bayha who turned in the best individual performance of the day as he contributed 16 of RIC's 23 points. Bayha won the broad jump and ran a fine anchor leg in the mile relay. Ray Marsland finished second in the record smashing 880 performance by Frank McCarthy. The mile relay team finished third behind Boston State and Fitchburg State. Other RIC point-scorers were Bob Bushell who finished first in the 100-yard dash qualifying heat but dropped to fourth in the final heat and Ray Nelson who took fourth in the mile event.

After the meet individual trophies for the top three men in each event and runnerup and championship trophies were presented by Ed Bogda, track coach and meet director. The Anchormen track team winds up the year in the NATA Championships this Saturday.

What about all the guys our age who don't even get this chance? Those whose parents didn't have enough money to send them to college? Those whose background didn't even teach them they should want to go?

Do we smell a little old-fashioned "class privilege" here? We know of a pre-law hotshot from Yale who said, "Students are the brains of the country's machine. The machine needs its brains.
