

What's NEWS

@ Rhode Island College

Vol. 2, No. 27 April 19, 1982

Third Annual Collage Concert:

The Sound of Trumpets

By Arline Aissis Fleming

The sound of trumpets will peal from Roberts Auditorium on Friday, April 30, when the music department presents its third annual "Collage Concert."

A potpourri of 16 musical acts will be presented in the one-hour program which is open by special invitation to the entire campus community.

President David E. Sweet and his wife, Arleene, have invited the RIC community to this family night of entertainment.

The concert will be preceded by a light buffet of eatables-on-a-stick, in the style of Boston's Faneuil Hall snack bars and stands. Fruits, meats, cheeses and vegetables-on-a-stick, as well as bread sticks, pastries, coffee and punch will be served beforehand in the lobby of Roberts Hall.

Beginning at 8 p.m., as the trumpets sound, more than 100 people from RIC's Music Department will present selections which range from opera to bluegrass. No one selection will last longer than seven and a half minutes, and the average piece is five minutes long. There won't even be time for applause, except at intermission and at the finale.

According to Dr. Francis Marciniak, the various performing groups will be set up at different locations around the auditorium. In the end, all of the performers will come together for the grande finale.

"It will be very fast-moving," said Marciniak, "with as much variety as possible." The idea of presenting a potpourri of short, musical pieces originated in Europe, said Marciniak. "It's been catching on because it's a different kind of program."

At RIC, one of the goals of such a program is to showcase the music department. In future years, it is hoped that the program can be expanded to include the other performing arts on campus. This year, two dancers will be included in one of the selections.

The entire program is as follows:

Intrada from "Suite for Five Trumpets" by Ronald Lo Presti with Anthony Costa, Gail Fleischmann, David Ward, David Enos and John Pellegrino.

Gamelan Anklung: "Berong pengatjet" arranged by Percy Grainger, with the RIC Percussion Ensemble assisted by Karen Toy on flute.

"A Little Comic Play" by Antonio Salieri with Stephanie Pelland, Russell Rathier, William Jones and Diane Gualtieri.

Prelude and Fuga VII from the "Well-Tempered Clavier" by Bach, arranged by Francis Marciniak with William Thomas, the RIC Symphonic Band and Marciniak conducting.

"Summer is icummen" with Cheryl Teixeira, Cindee LaCasse and Clifford Teixeira.

"See Here, Dorabella" from "Cosi fan tutti" by Mozart with Diane Alexander, Esperanza Berry and Ann Beerman.

Fold Song from "English Suite" with Paul LaPrade on guitar and dancers Jennifer Cooke and John Kujowski.

"Bittersweet" by Jay Beckenstein with the Rhode Island College Jazz Ensemble, Philip McClintock, conductor.

"In the Stone" by Maurice White, arranged by Keith Foley, with the RIC Jazz Ensemble.

Silent movie music with Diane Gualtieri.

"Shotin' Liza Trombone" by Henry

Fillmore, with Gary Vallee and William Thomas.

"Incantation" by Bobby Lewis with Anthony Costa, Gail Fleischmann, David Enos, David Ward, Eric Pettine and Benjamin Greene.

Papageno, Papagena from "The Magic Flute" by Mozart with Elizabeth Himmel, Wayne Patenaude and Diane Gualtieri.

"Satiric Dances" by Norman Dello Joio with the RIC Symphonic Band.

"Give Me Your Hand," "The Whistling Thief" and "The Gentleman Thief" with Ben McClelland, Steve Jobe, Paul LaPrade and Benjamin Greene.

"Passacaglia in C Minor" by Bach with the RIC Symphonic Band and the RIC Chamber Singers.

The entire event is free and open to all, but tickets must be obtained in advance. Tickets may be picked up at any of the following locations no later than April 28: the Student Union Information Desk, the College Advancement and Support Office, the department of music, Room 215 Roberts Hall or the Office of the President, Room 404 Roberts Hall.

History of collective action is subject of RIC program

Reese Hammond

The Labor Studies Committee and the department of history at Rhode Island College are sponsoring an all-day program on the history of collective action in the world of labor on Thursday, April 22.

The morning program will cover topics of local interest. Presenters and panelists will be from the local labor and college communities.

A luncheon will be held at noon in the college Faculty Center. Registration for the luncheon will be limited to 75 persons and pre-registration is necessary. Cost is $5.

Reese Hammond, director of training for the International Union of Operating Engineers, Washington, D.C., will be the keynote speaker at the luncheon.

The afternoon session will feature noted

(continued on page 6)

First New England Conference on:

Business social service

Barbara Feinstein

"Social Service Programs in Business and Industry" is the title of the first New England conference to give an overview of social service programs and provide a dialogue among human service professionals, business and industry which will be held at Rhode Island College on Thursday, April 22.

The one-day conference which begins with registration at 8:30 a.m. in Roberts Hall Alumni Lounge will feature Barbara B. Feinstein, founder and executive director of People to People Associates, as keynote speaker.

She will talk on "Human Services in the Workplace." Panel discussions on the following topics will also be held: "Employee Assistance Programs: Models and Structures," "Marketing and Implementing Programs," "Training and

(continued on page 6)

RIC Alumni Association honors four

Four men and women will be honored by the Rhode Island College Alumni Association at its annual awards dinner at the RIC Faculty Center on May 6.

The evening will begin with a champagne reception at 5:15 p.m. The awards ceremony and dinner will follow at 6.

Virginia Hill Murby of 279 West Ave., Seekonk, a member of the RIC Class of '44, will receive the Alumna of the Year Award at the dinner. Murby, who retired last year from teaching at the Greystone School in North Providence, is being recognized for her years of service and contribution to the alumni association.

The Rhode Island College Faculty Award will be presented to Dr. Edward W. Markward of 11 Taft Ave., North Providence.

Markward, professor of music at the college, is being honored for his contributions to the college and community through his work with the RIC Chamber Singers and Chorus.

The Chamber singers have been invited to perform at the World's Fair in Knoxville, Tenn., this June.

The recipient of the Alumni Service Award will be Matthew J. Gill Jr. of Warwick. A member of the Class of '70, Gill is the assistant director of adult services for the state Department of Corrections.

In his present position, he has overall responsibility for the daily supervision and operation of the Adult Correctional Institution.

Gill is actively involved in community affairs as well.

The Charles B. Willard Achievement Award is named for the president emeritus of RIC.

This year the award goes to Vincent A. Cullen of 12 Iona St., Cranston.

Cullen is a member of the RIC Class of

(continued on page 6)

Seek Carr scholar entrants by May 15

The Advancement and Support Division of Rhode Island College is seeking applicants for the Elizabeth S. Carr Trust Fund scholarship program for the 1982-83 academic year.

Approximately 600 letters describing the program and inviting recipients to apply have been sent to students the college believes are eligible for an award.

Accepted undergraduate or graduate students who are or will be enrolled at RIC in an elementary education curriculum or program during 1982-83 may apply for a scholarship.

Applications must be received by May
(continued on page 6)

Notes from Bernadette

By Bernadette V. Small

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Karp are the proud parents of a baby daughter, Abigail Joan, 6 lbs., 6 oz., born on March 28 at Women and Infants Hospital.

Joan, an assistant professor, teaches in the department of special education.

Congratulations to the happy family! Notes can be sent to them at 8 Edgewood Boulevard, Providence 02905.

Some of you will remember Mrs. Zelda Cruber who is retired from the college after many years of loyal service as a secretary in the records office.

We are saddened to hear of the death of her husband, Ben, on March 13.

We wish to express our sincere sympathy to Zelda and her family. Notes can be mailed to her at 1004 Hope St., Providence.

We are also saddened to hear of a pedestrian-vehicle accident in Warwick which claimed the life of Mrs. Marion Berard on March 18. Mrs. Berard was the sister of Brian Allen, acting director of the college dining services.

Our sincere condolences go to Mr. Allen and his family. Messages may be mailed to him at 890 Centerville Road, Warwick 02886.

Mrs. Patricia Stevens, staff assistant in the School of Continuing Education and Community Service, was a surgical patient at Rhode Island Hospital on April 2.

Friends will be interested to know that Pat is back at work and feeling fine. Welcome back, Pat!

We are happy to learn that Mrs. Barbara Zito is recuperating well from surgery she had in March. Good wishes may be sent to her at her home: 95 Old Oak Drive, Cranston 02910.

In the April 5 edition of What's New(s), my column inadvertently stated that Prof.

Deadline for grants, sponsored projects announced

Deadlines for Grants and Sponsored Projects Announced:

THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF HEALTH has piloted a Small Grants program modeled after the NIMH program. The program provides one-year grants of up to $15,000 in direct costs to support pilot projects, and testing of new techniques, or feasibility studies of innovative and high-risk research, which would provide a basis for more extended research. Eligible applicants are recently trained investigators; those with limited research experience; those changing fields, or those whose careers were interrupted. Applicable institutes include 1) the National Institute of Aging (health and effective functioning in the middle and later years) and 2) the National Eye Institute. The application deadline is June 1, 1982.

* * *

THE NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES is awarding Research Resources Grants. Awards are made to make research collections more accessible through processing, cataloging, and bibliographic projects, to develop standards for organizing collections, and to encourage cooperative conservation and preservation programs. The program funds projects to place unavailable materials in public repositories; to facilitate scholarly access by preparing catalogs, inventories, registers, guides, bibliographies, and other finding aids; and to improve the ways in which librarians, archivists, and others care for and make available the research materials entrusted to them. The application deadline is JUNE 1, 1982.

* * *

THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE has announced a competitive research grant program, the Unsolicited Research Program. A limited number of projects will be funded that address significant issues pertaining to adult crime and criminal justice, that are of sound methodological design, and have potentially important implications for criminal justice policy, practice, research and/or theory. The range of funding for each grant will be from $10,000 to $120,000 for research of up to two years duration. The application deadline for the second cycle of funding is June 1, 1982.

* * *

THE NATIONAL ENDORWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES has announced the following: Projects in Media — to encourage and support the production of high quality humanities film, radio, and television programs for national and regional broadcast and distribution to a broad adult audience. Application deadline: JUNE 1, 1982. Projects in Libraries — to encourage public interest in humanities resources of libraries and stimulate their use through thematic exhibits, media, publications, and other library activities. Application deadline: JUNE 1, 1982.

* * *

Please contact the Bureau of Grants and Sponsored Projects, Ext. 8228, for additional information on the above programs.

Focus on the faculty and staff

DR. FRANCIS MARCINIAK, professor of music, gave a lecture on "The Golden Age of Bands" for the Smithfield Historical Society on March 18. He is the conductor of The American Band.

MARCINIAK served as clinician for the Blackstone-Millville Regional School Music Department on March 24 and presented clinics for the high school wind ensemble, concert band and the junior high wind ensemble.

DR. JANET MANCINI BILLSON, associate professor of sociology and Dr. Roger Clark presented papers at the annual meeting of the Eastern Sociology Society on March 19-21 in Philadelphia. Professor Billson's presentation was on "The College Classrooms as a Small Group: Some Implications for Teaching and Learning." Professor Clark's paper was on "Urban Primary and Socio-economic Development in India: A Case for Reexamination."

DON C. SMITH, professor of art, was a visiting artist at Lowell University at Lowell, Mass., on April 7. During his visit to Lowell, Smith lectured on "Realism in Contemporary Art." Smith's work was also shown in the gallery. He served, in addition, as visiting critic for the painting and drawing majors.

DR. BEN W. McCLELLAND, associate professor and chair of the English department, has been appointed to the Committee on Underemployment of College Teachers of English, reports the National Council of Teachers of English.

The committee's task is to coordinate the efforts of the council regarding underemployment of college teachers of English; to serve as a liaison to other professional organizations concerned with underemployment; to gather information about and recommend guidelines on the integration and evaluation of part time and adjunct faculty; and to develop a statement on the use of part time and adjunct faculty and the impact of that use on the quality of teaching and the development of instructional staff.

The NCTE is a professional organization for teachers and supervisors of English language arts programs at all levels of education in the U.S. and Canada

Richard Kenyon was in the department of health/physical education. Professor Kenyon is in the department of art. We apologize for the error.

Congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. James A. Schaefer, the proud parents of a baby son!

Andrew Clark Schaefer was born on Monday, April 5, at 2:51 p.m., weighing in at 6 lbs., 6 oz. at Women and Infants Hospital. Professor Schaefer is with the department of mathematics.

Good wishes may be addressed to them at home: 107 Amherst Road, Cranston 02920.

We extend our good wishes also to Dr. Philip M. Whitman of the department of mathematics who is doing well after recent surgery at Fatima Hospital. It is good to have you back, Professor Whitman!

We received word recently that Dr. James N. Williams is recuperating nicely from major surgery he underwent on April 8 at Jane Brown Hospital.

The husband of Nellie Williams of the records office, Mr. Williams received an honorary degree from Rhode Island College and was the former director of the Urban League of Rhode Island.

An outstanding citizen of the state, Mr. Williams can receive good wishes at home, 50 Blanding Ave., East Providence 02914.

Legislative Alert

Below is current legislation before the Rhode Island General Assembly that is of importance to faculty and staff:

NEW SENATE BUSINESS

Probate Practice and Procedure, S-2668 by Quattrocchi. This act exempts charitable corporations from the escheat bill so that such sums as might be recovered from such organizations can be devoted to the charitable purposes for which such organizations exist. Judiciary Committee.

PASSED BY THE SENATE (House passage required)

Exemption from the Escheat Bill, S-2629 by Zuccarelli (as amended). This act exempts charitable corporations from the escheat bill. House Judiciary Committee.

CLASSIFIED

WANTED: Junk cars. Any make, any model, any year. Also, running or fixable used cars. Please call 944-5618.

FOR SALE OR TRADE: Cuisinart DLC10E Food Processor. Purchased 12/81, $50 OR will trade cover with wide capacity feed-tube for conventional cover. Call Barbara at Ext. 8125

FOR SALE: 1970 2-door Chevrolet Malibu, 84,000 miles, 8-cylinder, 307 engine. Good condition. $995. If interested, call 769-1648.

FOR SALE: Clean, well-equipped Cox Tent Camper. Sleeps six, Light weight. $995. Call Ext. 484 or 1-767-3052.

What's
New(s) at
RIC

Editor

Laurence J. Sasso, Jr.
(on leave)

Acting Editor

George LaTour

Staff

Peter P. Tobia, Photographer
Audrey Drummond
Rosemarie Abbruzzese
Arline Aissis Fleming

Student Staff

Laurie A. Jones
Lynn Chudy

WHAT'S NEW(s) at RIC is published weekly through the academic year by News and Information Services Laurence J. Sasso, Jr., director (on leave); George LaTour, acting director. News, inquiries and submission of materials for publication should be directed to News and Information Services c/o The Bureau (second floor).

DEADLINE

Deadline for submission of copy and photos is TUESDAY at 4:30 p.m.

Tel. 456-8132

Printer: The Beacon Press

Keeping Score

with Kathy Feldmann

The weather has certainly caused havoc with the spring sports program.

All of the efforts that go into the scheduling of events can be wiped out quickly with one good April blizzard.

Postpone, reschedule and cancel are words that the athletic department are beginning to dread. Many of the coaches and the players are getting anxious to play, and are looking forward to some sunny days.

Actually, a day without snow or rain will do at this point.

Before the storm hit, the baseball team was able to play the first week of their northern schedule. The Anchoermen defeated Barrington 15-5. Jim Martel was the winning pitcher for the game which was played for the most part in the rain.

In their next game, RIC soundly defeated Colby College 17-4.

The Anchoermen dropped a doubleheader to Lowell University 5-4 and 6-5. Both games were lost in the last inning.

On Saturday, April 24, RIC will play a doubleheader at home against Assumption College. The first game will begin at noon.

Between games, members of the 100-hit club will be honored. Thus far, only 10 players have achieved this during their careers at RIC. Senior Jim Dennett, one of the tri-captains for this year's team, will be one of those honored.

The softball team lost a doubleheader to Southeastern Massachusetts University. The first game S.M.U. edged out RIC 2-1, but S.M.U. came on strong in the second game and defeated RIC 13-2.

The men's tennis team won their first match of the season by defeating Salem State 6-3. This was a great first match for the Anchoermen, since they lost to a nearly identical Salem team last year 8-1.

The All-Sports Athletic Awards Banquet will take place on Sunday, May 2. The banquet will be held at the Rhode Island School of Design. The dinner will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. Anyone desiring more information should contact the athletic office, Ext. 8007.

Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity:

Alive and Well!

By Arline Aissis Fleming

Up on the second level of the Donovan Dining Center, in a corner overlooking the library, a group of students — all men — meet each day to talk about baseball, final exams, the date they just went on and summer jobs.

They don't look any different from the other male students on campus. They wear jeans and sneakers and carry tattered notebooks. They like to go to parties. They worry about school, they worry about the future. If there is anything different about these guys, it's that they call themselves "brothers." They are the members of RIC's only social fraternity, Kappa Delta Phi.

Over the years at RIC, the Greek system has come and almost gone — especially during the late 1960's. Fraternities formed and disbanded — as did sororities.

Today, while three sororities exist at RIC, only one fraternity has survived the campus trends. But with almost 30 active members, KDP is a viable fraternity, despite the fact that unlike frats on many other campuses, they don't live together in a fraternity house.

Their table in the Student Union is their only home base. But it hasn't restrained their efforts to stay together as a strong group.

"Without a house, the problem becomes one of unity. A house creates unity when you live with the guys and interact with them," said Jack DeGiovanni, president of Kappa Delta Phi. The brothers make up for the lack of a roof over their heads by formally meeting at least once a week — in addition to informally each day at the lunch table.

"If we had a house, we'd be more apt to be a solid unit. There are liabilities too (with a house)," said Jack. "The upkeep. The money needed to run a house. We don't have liabilities. If we don't want to pledge (recruit new members) for one semester, we don't have to."

The KDP brothers pay $60 a year in dues, with $20 of that going to their national headquarters. The remainder of the money is for special events, pledging and the office supplies needed to run the fraternity. The dues entitle the brothers to attend for free the events they sponsor for the entire campus community.

A FEW MEMBERS of Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity at RIC are (l to r) Steven Kelly, Mike Adams, Mike Gonsalves, Jack DeGiovanni and Jeff Hebert.

For example, after spring break, they sponsored a Beach Party in the Student Union, and almost 600 students attended. Prizes were awarded for the best tan and refreshments included tacos. The group will sponsor a golf tournament in the summer as well as picnics and get-togethers which often attract alumni frat members. Like fraternities everywhere, a reputation is inevitably gained that the group meets just to hold parties.

"We like to think it's not just a social organization. It's a lot more than just getting together and drinking beer," said Jack. "It's true, a fraternity does do a lot of that. But there's also other facets to a frat."

How much more?

Fraternities everywhere, from the "Animal House" organizations to the intellectual groups are required to report philanthropic activities to their national organizations.

RIC's frat reports doing odd jobs for churches and elderly groups such as painting and shoveling snow, and they act as waiters at various campus events.

"We do odd jobs to help some facet of the community around the RIC campus. We work through the chaplain's office," Jack reports.

Apart from helping out other people, what are those other "facets" he is talking about?

"There's the idea of idealism. You're not joining the debate club. It's something else — it's loyalty, trust, respect, compassion. A fraternity helps to promote good leadership," he listed. "It helps to instill the qualities you need in a leader."

Mike Adams, a RIC student who comes from New Hampshire, agreed with Jack. "Basically, it's the loyalty. Just the loyalty I get from my brothers, and the support," he said. "And the social aspect comes in handy," he smiled.

A sign on their bulletin board — their only personal furnishing — touts "Brotherhood Begins With Respect."

"You learn to accept people for what they are," said Mike. "We learn to help each other out."

SOME HISTORY

"We are the oldest student organization on campus," said DeGiovanni. Kappa Delta Phi has been active at RIC since 1928. The group almost dissolved in 1969 — but one member remained, keeping it solvent.

Like many fraternities, they too have gone through various identities. "At one time we had a lot of wrestlers, but that doesn't hold true anymore," said Jack.

At another point in the past, Kappa Delta Phi was a fraternity for education majors. Today its members include athletes, student parliament officers, and they're pretty proud to say that one of their members is operations manager in the Student Union.

The brothers admit that despite the diverse backgrounds and interests, on this campus, new members usually join because they already know someone.

"It's hard for an outsider. You see these guys wearing black and yellow jackets, but you don't know anyone and it's difficult to just walk up to them," Jack said.

But they'd be receptive to new faces and they actually seek them out during the rush season.

THE FUTURE

DeGiovanni says he'd still like to get a house for the fraternity — it's one of his goals.

But in the meantime, summer is coming and final exams before that so the brothers have a lot of plans to make.

"We're a brotherhood. People don't pledge a fraternity because it's a house," said Peter Bottello.

"It's an educational process," added Jeff Hebert.

So despite only having a table to call their own (and not even that), RIC's only fraternity is going strong and is ready for the future.

Thorp Lecture

RAPT ATTENTION is given Dr. Richard L. Dickson (above) who delivers the Thorp Lecture as an honored member of the School of Education and Human Development by (left) Dr. David Greene, Dr. James Bierden, Dr. Walter Crocker and Dr. Harriet Brisson.

(What's New(s) Photos by Peter P. Tobia)

SPRING SNOW

Surprise, Surprise!

As the old saying goes: "Spring has sprung. The grass has ris. I wonder where the birdies is?"

As anyone can plainly see (or imagine) any birdies around the RIC campus on the spring (?) days of April 6 and 7 must have been under the avalanche of snow that fell in a freak winter-like blizzard, giving the college community its first "snow vacation" this academic year.

As strong winds piled heavy snow in drifts and roadways became treacherous, the few hardy souls who had ventured on campus Tuesday morning of the 6th, slip-slided their way from building to building and waited for the inevitable: an official cessation of classes and office activity.

The call came in by mid-morning and faculty, staff and students, anxious to get home and away from the storm, headed for the exits. Only personnel from security, physical plant road cleaning crews and other emergency-type folk remained. And, they certainly had their work cut out for them!

Continued high winds and falling snow made return to campus virtually impossible (or at least undesirable) the next day. As most of us huddled around our fireplaces or TV sets we wondered what happened to spring.

---

What's New(s) Photos by Peter P. Tobia

---

Vincent Price to speak on villains

Stage and screen actor Vincent Price will speak at Rhode Island College on Tuesday, April 27, at 8 p.m.

Price's topic will be "The Villains Still Pursue Me," a history of villainy.

Reserved seats are $7 for the general public, $4.50 for senior citizens, $5 for students and $3.50 for RIC students. The box office will open April 21 and reservations can be made by calling 456-8144.

Price, known over the years for his roles as the wicked scoundrel or the horrifying villain, has been an actor since 1935.

Now in his early 70s, he's taken to the lecture circuit, speaking on topics which range from art to poetry. He has written several books, among them a cookbook — and is at work on Man and the Monster Image. He has done a number of recordings and has been narrator for such works as "Peter and the Wolf" and "Oedipus Rex."

But it is his stage and film work for which he is best known. He was seen on Broadway in "Angel Street" and Shakespeare's "Richard III." His film career includes The House of Seven Gables, The Song of Bernadette, The Ten Commandments, The House of Wax, The Raven, The Pit and the Pendulum, The House of Usher and many others.

A native of St. Louis, Mo., he received his B.A. from Yale University and attended the University of London.

Price has also been very active in the propagation of the arts and was past chairman of the Indian Arts and Crafts Board for the U.S. Department of the Interior, a member of the Royal Society of Arts and a member of the Arts Council of UCLA.

His RIC performance, which is being sponsored by the RIC Performing Arts Series, will be held in Roberts Auditorium.

Because the performance has been changed to reserved seating, anyone holding tickets marked "general seating" may exchange them at the Performing Arts Office, Roberts Hall, Room 110, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., or after April 21, at the RIC Box Office in Roberts Hall.

Vincent Price

Nuclear arms film to be shown

"War Without Winners," a film about the nuclear arms race, will be shown on Tuesday, April 20, at noon in Gage Hall, Room 2071.

The week of April 18-24 has been designated "Ground Zero Week" by the various anti-nuclear arms groups in the United States. Demonstrations, lectures and film presentations will be held throughout the country in order to gain support for the proposed nuclear arms freeze.

The RIC presentation is being sponsored by Students for a Non-Nuclear Future, an informal campus group whose goal is to inform the members of the RIC community of the nationwide movement against the nuclear arms race.

In addition to the film, other plans by the group include a panel discussion on the subject to be held sometime before the end of the semester.

The film presentation is free and open to the public.

Film studies lecture Thursday

The second of the annual lectures in film studies for spring 1982 will be given on Thursday, April 29, at Rhode Island College.

Foster Hirsch will speak at 1 p.m. on "Love, Sex, Death and the Meaning of Life: Woody Allen's Comedy." His talk will be held in Craig Lee, Room 255.

Hirsch is associate professor of English and film at Brooklyn College, City University of New York, and the author of 10 books on film and theatre. Among them are: Film Noir, Laurence Olivier, Who's Afraid of Edward Albee? and Elizabeth Taylor. He is currently writing a history of the Actors Studio.

His talk is free and open to all. The event is being sponsored by the Film Studies Program with the support of the College Lectures Committee at Rhode Island College.

Calendar of Events

MONDAY, APRIL 19

3 p.m. Men's Basketball. RIC vs. University of New Haven. Away

4-5 p.m. Innovations/Crafts '82. Slide Lecture. "Pottery: East and West" Janet Leach, visiting artist from St. Ives, England. Gage Auditorium

7-9 p.m. Arts and Crafts Exhibition. Sponsored by Student Council for Exceptional Children. Student Union Gamesroom.

TUESDAY, APRIL 20

10 a.m.-3 p.m. Innovations/Crafts '82. Demonstration of Japanese thrown-coil method and glazing techniques. Janet Leach, visiting artist from St. Ives, England. Not open to the public. Continues through April 22. Art Center, Ceramics Studio.

Noon Film "War Without Winners," sponsored by Students for Non-Nuclear Future. Gage Hall, Room 207.

Noon Sociology Department Colloquium. "Reflections on China: Culture and Research." Sarah Lawrence Lightfoot, Professor at Harvard Graduate School of Education. Faculty Center, Upstairs Reading Room.

Noon-2 p.m. Finance Commission Meeting. Student Union Chambers.

Noon-2 p.m. Career Service Workshop. "Interview" Craig Lee, Room 054.

1 p.m. Biology Department Lecture. "Nuclear Bodies as Functional Indicators in the Target Cells of Steroid Hormones." Helen A. Padykula, Ph.D. Open to the public. Fogarty Life Science, Room 050.

1-2 p.m. Jewish Students and Teachers Meeting. Student Union, Room 304.

1-2 p.m. Women's Center Meeting. Student Union Ballroom.

3 p.m. Women's Softball. RIC vs. Western New England College. Home.

3 p.m. Men's Track and Field. RIC vs. Nichols College. Away.

4 p.m. Men's Baseball. RIC vs. Providence College. Away.

6-10 p.m. Parliamentary Budget Meeting. Student Union Chambers.

7-9 p.m. Performance Based Admissions Program. Free information session. Alumni Lounge, Roberts Hall.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21

Noon-1 p.m. History Dept. Lunchtime Colloquium. "Pre and Post Revolution at the University of Iran" Gloria and Kamal Shafae-Moghadem. Gage Hall, Room 207.

2 p.m. Women's Softball. RIC vs. Providence College. Home.

3 p.m. Men's Tennis. RIC vs. Newport College (Salve Regina). Home.

7-11 p.m. Parliamentary Budget Meeting. Student Union Chambers.

7:30-9:30 p.m. Kappa Epsilon Meeting. Student Union, Lounge F.

THURSDAY, APRIL 22

Men's Tennis. New England Tournament at Middlebury, Vermont. Continues through Saturday, April 24.

2-4 p.m. Career Service Workshop. "Interview" Craig Lee, Room 054.

6-10 p.m. Parliamentary Budget Meeting. Student Union Chambers.

6:30-11 p.m. Sigma Mu Delta Meeting. Student Union, Room 310.

8 p.m. "Orpheus Descending," a Tennessee Williams play directed by David Wheeler. Tickets are $4 general admission, and $2 for all students. For reservations, call 456-8144. Continues through April 25.

FRIDAY, APRIL 23

Noon Great Decisions Meeting. An informal program of discussion of significant foreign issues. Contact David Woolman at 456-8065 or John Browning at 456-8091.

3 p.m. Men's Baseball. RIC vs. Amherst. Away.

4 p.m. Women's Softball. RIC vs. Bryant College. Home.

SATURDAY, APRIL 24

9 a.m.-noon The Second Annual Babysitter's Clinic. Barbara Scott, Pre-school Teacher. Sponsored by RIC Elementary Ed. Dept. Open to babysitters 12 years old and up. Admission $2. Student Union Ballroom.

10:30 a.m. Women's Track and Field. Tri-State Championships. Away at Bryant College.

10:30 a.m. Men's Track and Field. Tri-State Championships. Away at Bryant College.

Noon Men's Baseball. RIC vs. Assumption. Home.

1 p.m. Women's Softball. RIC vs. Wheaton College. Home.

SUNDAY, APRIL 25

10 a.m. Sunday Mass. Student Union Ballroom.

7 p.m. Sunday Evening Mass. Browne Hall, Upper Lounge.

7-11 p.m. Kappa Delta Phi Meeting. Student Union Chambers.

MONDAY, APRIL 26

7-8 p.m. Arts and Crafts Exhibition. Sponsored by Student Council for Exceptional Children. Student Union Gamesroom.

3 p.m. Women's Softball. RIC vs. Barrington College. Home.

9-11 a.m. Career Service Workshop. "Interview" Craig-Lee, Room 054

Noon Celebration of Writing. Student Readings of their work. Craig Lee, Room 255.