Commencement Message from President Nazarian

Members of the Class of 2006:

You may have heard it said that "when it comes to the future, there are three kinds of people: those who LET it happen, those who MAKE it happen, and those who WONDER what happened."

As soon to be graduates of Rhode Island COLlege, I am confident that you will be among the group who MAKE it happen. Your accomplishments during the time that you have spent with us indicate a promising future for you and, by extension, for the world we share.

Your success is an affirmation of the guidance, encouragement, and nurturing of so many who believe in you: including faculty and staff at the college, as well as your family and friends who have supported you along the way. These are people who have served as your mentors. Mentors are not always the ones in the limelight, yet we should always take the opportunity to recognize their influence on our lives. One of the more notable mentors of the 20th century was a man by the name of Benjamin Elijah Mays.

An African-American, born in 1895 in South Carolina to parents who were tenant farmers, and the youngest of eight children, Mays rose above the obstacles he faced to accomplish many remarkable things. He was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Bates College, earned his masters and doctorate at the University of Chicago, and became an ordained minister. He was a college professor, a dean, and served as president of Morehouse College for 27 years. It was during his presidency at Morehouse that he became a mentor to a young man named Martin Luther King, Jr. and, after King's assassination, it was Mays who delivered the eulogy.

Benjamin Elijah Mays held a compelling belief that each person's life is a mission. He stated it this way (and I quote): "Every man and woman is born into the world to do something unique and something distinctive, and if he or she does not do it, it will never be done." Let me repeat that: "Every man and woman is born into the world to do something unique and something distinctive, and if he or she does not do it, it will never be done."

It is a powerful message, and an appropriate one given the milestone you are about to reach. In this graduation season, and for all the days to come, may that thought inspire you to continue to do your very best to bring about positive change for humanity. That is my hope for the Class of 2006.

CLASS OF 2006

SENIOR STORY

Deborah and Caroline Francis

Graduation Day was special for this mother and daughter as they each walked across the stage as part of the Rhode Island College Class of 2006!

"There is no future, there is no past,
I live this moment as my last...."

My name is Caroline Francis, and I'd like to introduce you to someone else. That lovely lady over there is my mom. Deborah Francis, my mother, graduated on May 20, 2006. She received her Bachelor's degree in Art History. I too, graduated that day with my Bachelor's degree. My mom has worked for twelve years at this college, often one class at a time, as she balanced the rest of her life with her education. There was never a good time at which my mom could start such a task of going back to school, and there was certainly nothing about her life that made it easy to return. But she was very motivated. I'd like to share with you for just a few brief moments some of the memories I have and lessons I've learned because of my mom over these past twelve years in which she has attended Rhode Island College. And maybe this will remind some of you of some experiences you've had, and some people you know.

•

I remember attending classes once in a while with my mom a long time ago in the late afternoons after my school day, or on a Saturday morning. I remember computer class (one she was less than fond of), philosophy class (in which my mom successfully encouraged the professor to perform one of his chants for me), summer geography class (where I found myself on a boat, at a museum, and, much to the surprise of us all, actually consuming a raw oyster straight out of the water!), and then there was psychology class (in which the professor allowed me to take the exam with the rest of the students—I was probably about 11 at the time). I have many fond memories of joining my mom out of convenience or sheer fun, on many of her course excursions and many of her average class days over the years. I was given the opportunity, before I even entered college, to be welcomed into many different classes with her, and learn so many wonderful things about so many different topics, on the sea, in the classroom, and in various locations around Rhode Island.

•

I think my mother can remind many of us through her example, that education is part of a lifelong discovery of everything around us. She has given me opportunities to learn so much on a wide breadth of subjects, and enjoy myself while being there. She has brought me to classes that were typically small and close-knit at an institution where you soon get to know each other's names, and call your professors at home. But most importantly, my mom can give many of us the greatest gift: a new lesson in the value of perspective. Greatly through her example I have come to realize over these past twelve years that a résumé means little, but the memories and wisdom you gain over your lifetime mean much. Rhode Island College has served my mother's life and mine so very well.

•

In life, there are a world of things you can accomplish, but there are only so many things which are important to do. Taking the initiative to enrich your life is one thing, but you must also have the perspective to know that living life with the ones you love is just as important. In fact, the future doesn't seem strange anymore; I know, and I truly hope all of you do too, that life is too short to scramble around toward accomplishments that make us famous, but that it is just long enough to live it with motivation and happiness, and savor the quiet success of such simple and important achievements.

•

Congratulations to each and every one of you and I wish all of you all the happiness that life can bring. And for you mom, thank you, and congratulations on receiving your Bachelor of Arts degree in Art History after such a wonderful journey. You should be so very proud of yourself, I know I am.

RHODE ISLAND COLLEGE STUDENT LIFE

Rhode Island College offers all students numerous opportunities to get involved on and off campus. Student Life at RIC is comprised of Student Organizations and Student Activities, as well as Academic organizations.

OUTDOOR ADVENTURE CLUB

"I try to open up to what I don't know...."

Unless you have been on a RIC Outdoor Adventure Club trip, it's hard to fully explain how fantastic they've been. The 1st trip this year was the Storgy award winning annual ski trip to Sugarloaf ski resort in Maine. It was a 5 day long vacation in January where we enjoyed fresh powder, perfect weather, friends and good times. Sixty people attended this very affordable ski trip and we're happy to report that no one lost any limbs, kissed any trees at 60 mph or was eaten by the abominable snowman! For the next trip, we traveled to North Country Rivers in Bingham, ME for some extreme white water rafting on the Kennebec River and some monster mosquitoes. The rainy weather certainly didnt put a damper on this 3 day camping trip. The majority of those who participated had never rafted before but found themselves in the middle of class IV rapids and loved it! The final trip the OAC hosted this year was the trip to Martha's Vineyard. We spent the 1st day biking around the beautiful island and the second enjoying water sports on the beach. And a special thanks to our advisor, John Taylor, for his encouragement and support.

UNITY CENTER

Montreal, RIC End Spring Break, Hypnotic state...oh the places you'll go!

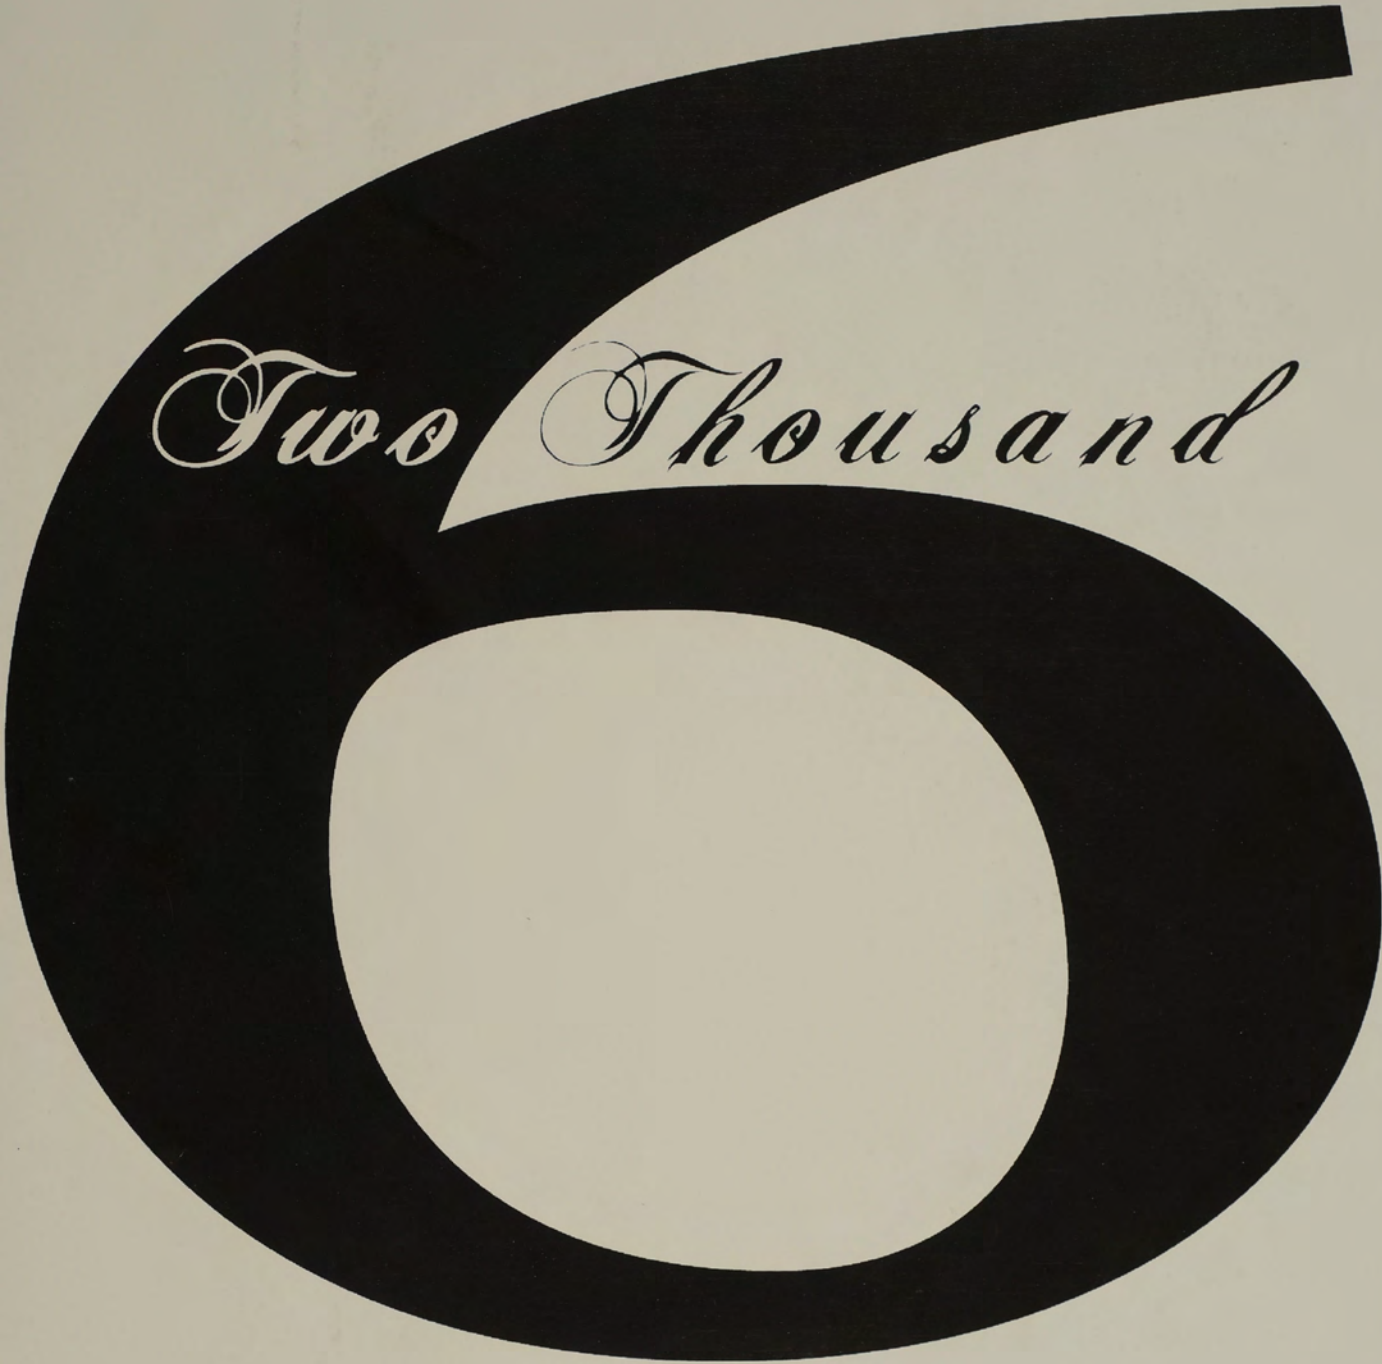

The Unity Center is Rhode Island College's multicultural center. It promotes opportunities for exploring human dignity, social identity, and cultural equity. The Center fosters collaborative programming among its student affiliations, faculty and the local community. It is committed to challenging stereotypes, racism and apathy and gender discrimination. The Center's concern is to maintain global awareness by responding to current events while preparing others to be productive citizens of the world. The Center is also a place where students can engage their peers and faculty about what is being taught in the classroom and is a space for dialogue and discussion. We strive to preserve, bolster, and enrich students' cultural, social and ethnic identity. Over the past year The Unity Center has helped sponsor many diverse events on campus. Some of the events include, Diversity Week, Dias de los Muertos, Angela E. Oh, African American History Month, The Vagina Monologues, Miss Rhode Island Latina Pageant, the Books for Africa Campaign, Domestic Violence Awareness Luncheon, Cultural Capital film series, Out on Campus, Stop The Hate Rally, Bannister Gallery exhibits, Day of Silence, Word is Born Poetry, Yewande and many more.

Homecoming: 2005

"I'm going back.....back to school!"

Each fall, students and graduates of Rhode Island College are invited to come home to RIC! This past year, the event featured a rock climbing wall, a race, and a parade featuring RIC students showing off their best faces.

RIC End

"I look before I leap....."

Where else can you go back to being a kid?!
RIC students had the opportunity to relive their childhood during RICEnd, which featured Adult Blow Up Twister and other big kid versions of little kid games.

Gospel Concert

"One song- before I go- Glory- one song to leave behind....."

One of the newest groups at RIC is a Gospel Chior.....

They had one of their first concerts this year and knocked the socks off of the students, staff, family and friends who were all there to give their support!

Hurricanes ravage the Gulf Coast region in the fall of 2005, posing an unprecedented test of the United States federal emergency response efforts. Hundreds of lives are lost and thousands are left homeless in the wake of Category 4 Hurricane Katrina, followed by Rita and Wilma. The tragedy spurs contributions of money, talents, homes, food and more in an attempt to raise spirits and rebuild the area.

August

- 25 Hurricane Katrina strikes Florida.
- 28 Mandatory evacuation of both New Orleans and Mississippi is ordered as Katrina becomes a Category 5 storm in the Gulf of Mexico.
- 29 Downgraded to a Category 4 storm, Katrina hits land. 1.3 million homes and businesses lose electricity in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. 30 levees are breached, flooding New Orleans and leaving 100,000 people stranded. After slow government response, civil unrest and looting begins.
- 31 President Bush surveys the damage.

September

- 1 30,000 National Guard troops are deployed. Gas prices spike to as high as $5 per gallon.
- 2 President Bush visits Louisiana and signs a $10.5 billion relief bill. Nearly 154,000 evacuees arrive in Texas.
- 4 The New Orleans Superdome is evacuated.
- 6 President Bush and Congress pledge to investigate the flawed disaster response.
- 9 Government-issued debit cards are distributed to evacuees. The program fails and is ended days later.
- 12 Michael Brown, head of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, resigns. Flooding is down to 50 percent in New Orleans.
- 14 New Orleans Mayor Ray Nagin announces a phased repopulation plan.
- 15 New Orleans begins to reopen. Katrina is named the most destructive hurricane in U.S. history.
- 20 Louisiana Governor Kathleen Blanco declares a state of emergency as Hurricane Rita strengthens off the coast.
- 22 Rita hits the Louisiana coast and heads for Texas.
- 23 Thousands evacuate eastern Texas and the 9th Ward of New Orleans floods once again after levees are overrun.

October

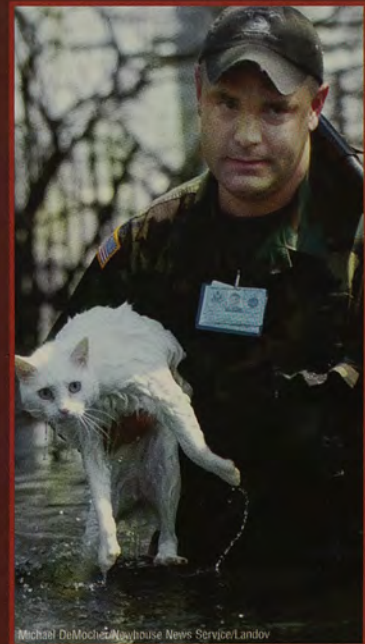

- 24 Hurricane Wilma hits southwest Florida.
