

The Poet's Calendar—Longfellow

Janus am I; oldest of potentates,
Forward I look, and backward, and below
I count, as gods of avenues and gates,
The years that through my portals come and go.

I block the roads and drift the fields with snow;
I chase the wild-fowl from the frozen fen;
My frosts congeal the rivers in their flow;
My fires light up the hearths and hearts of men.

Janus

This year the Rhode Island College yearbook takes on a new name, the Janus, in honor of the god of all new beginnings. Being acquainted with the past, the present, and the future, Janus can reveal all. He can allow the Seniors the privilege of going back four years to their freshman days, as well as show them that graduation day is indeed a new and good beginning.

As Seniors, we wish to incorporate all that Janus represents as part of our college tradition. We proudly invite you to enter this book, with the permission of Janus, god of entrances and gates.

Director

Division of Laboratory Experience

We, the Class of 1961, dedicate our yearbook, the Janus, to Dr. Mary T. Thorp, professor of education and director of laboratory experiences at Rhode Island College. Dr. Thorp has served the Senior Class well, as she has served many throughout her whole life. When as freshmen we first went to Henry Barnard School, it was Dr. Thorp who introduced us to the multifaceted world of teaching; and through the years her professional excellence has remained in our memories.

Dr. Thorp is a gracious woman who, with a gentle sense of humor, has dedicated her life to young people. There is no person in the Senior Class who has not known her kindness; and so it is with great pride that we extend our gratitude and appreciation to Dr. Mary Thorp.

RHODE ISLAND COLLEGE

Established 1854

PROVIDENCE 8, RHODE ISLAND

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

With your roots least deep in the ways of college life on the old campus, you have been longest on the new campus and you are the last transition class. Your first two years were difficult ones as you sought for unity and direction in the confusion of change. But out of your difficult beginnings, you have welded a fine class spirit and an excellent contribution to good new ways of college life. As you have chosen Janus, symbolizing good beginnings, as the new name for our yearbook, so, too, have you given depth to the meaning of good beginnings by demonstrating how they come out of struggle for understanding and accomplishment.

The condition of our modern world makes it ever more evident that education is the chief instrument by which societies work out their destinies. You have all prepared yourselves to take your place among the teachers of our society. Whatever the conditions that greet you, keep alive your sense of excitement and gratitude for your unique role in the drama of modern life.

The world stands out on either side
No wider than the heart is wide;
Above the world is stretched the sky,—
No higher than the soul is high.
The heart can push the sea and land
Farther away on either hand;
The soul can split the sky in two,
And let the face of God shine through.

Renascence—Edna St. Vincent Millay
